The Trojan spirit is more than cheering at a pep ralley, building a Homecoming display, or supporting the national championship baseball team. It is unboundless enthusiasm for all that TSU represents ... its sports, academics, organizations, dramatic productions and so much more. The happy, prideful face of our mascot, T-Roy, denotes the spirit found in students, alumni and other fans.

Pride is an integral part of what comprises the Trojan spirit. Troy State students and administrators like to boast and have every reason to do so. With Junior Misses from all over the country, two national championship athletic teams, a nationally acclaimed drama department, and a multitude of successful alumni, Troy State's pride is showing. TSU people do not carry an arrogant pride, but rather a secure, satisfied pride in knowing they are a part of a unique university.

In a Troy State of Mind

Naughty Troy

In 1887, two small buildings in downtown Troy marked the beginnings of what would eventually become the Troy State University System. From its conception to its current status, Troy State's main campus has grown and expanded along with the curriculum, campus activities, administration, and student body.

The main campus, presently covering 433 acres in the southeastern quarter of Troy, is known for its scenic beauty. Azaleas in bloom paint the campus with vivrant colors of spring. In the winter, pecan trees drape the quad with their majestic limbs. The rugid facade of Kilby Hall serves as a reminder of the fine history of the Institution, while the mistic aloofness of Sorrell Chapel is a constant symbol of TSU's philosophies and ideals. Rising above all is the Palladium which guards the campus like a hawk, offering a sense of security.

Warm days and sunny skies provide a haven for outdoor activities. Chats between classes, picnic lunches at the TSU Lake, sun-seeking at Pace Hall, and a myriad of other activities are common for students. The shade in the quad provides a setting for students to catch up on day-to-day happenings or to study between classes.

Visitors on campus often comment on the friendliness of Troy State people. Those who are part of the TSU community realize that the comforts and beauty which the campus provides serves to enhance the congeniality of students and faculty.

In a Troy State of Mind

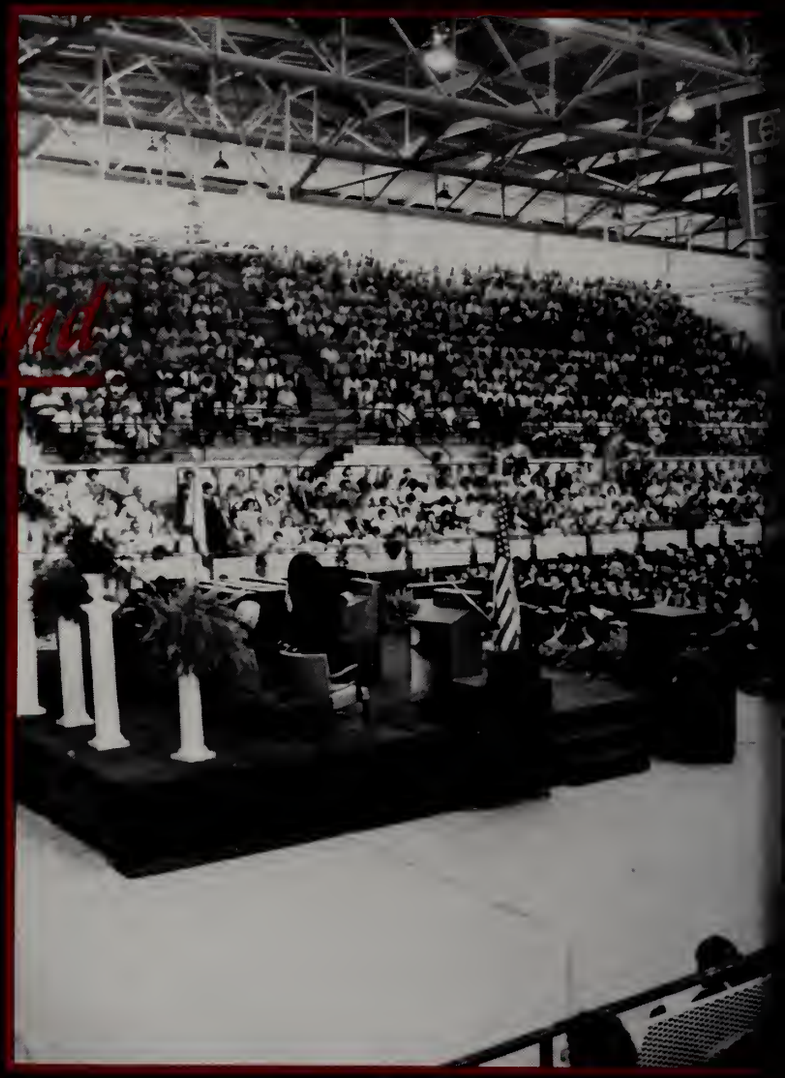
A Strong Foundation

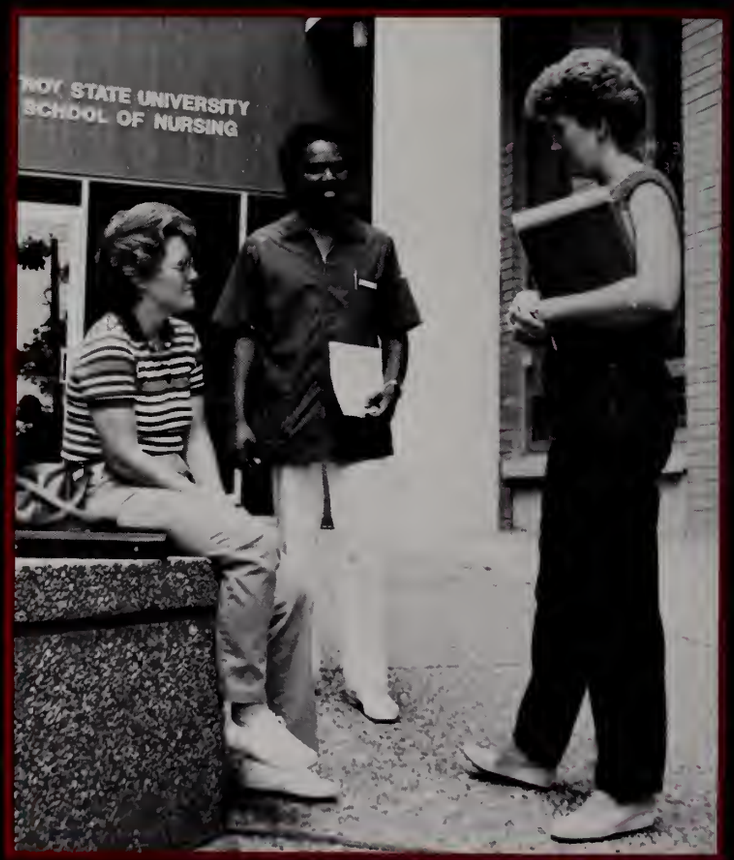
The Troy State University System began as a small teachers' college known as Troy State Normal School. In the years following its origin, Troy State has progressed, now offering Bachelor of Science,

Bachelor of Arts, Master of Science degrees and some pre-professional programs.

Perhaps the most appealing aspect of TSU's academic environment is the one-to-one contact professors and students experience. Faculty advisers, tutorial labs, and excellent library facilities are among the many sources of academic counseling and enhancement available to Troy State students.

Troy State is known for its highly qualified, creative teaching staff. Their true concern for the student's knowledge of the subject and for the student's future success helps to motivate students to excel academically. Excellent student-faculty rapport makes Troy State's academic programs successful.





TROY STATE

Individuality has always characterized Troy State students. Each comes from a different background with diverse ideals and beliefs. The University is only enriched by the diversity of its students. Each person adds a little something to the overall picture of the Troy State University System.

During the course of time one spends at college, friendships can be made to last a lifetime, knowledge acquired to build a successful career, and confidence gained to build a strong individual.

The beauty of the campus, fine traditions of the Institution, diversity of its students, and excellence in academics are all integral parts IN A TROY STATE OF MIND.

Sonya Jennings
Homecoming Queen

Homecoming

On a sunny but cool Saturday afternoon TSU students, returning alumni and friends rallied in Memorial Stadium to see Miss Sonya Jennings crowned as 1985 Homecoming Queen.

A victorous game for the Trojans marked the culmination of a festive Homecoming week. Student Government Association was instrumental in making Homecoming an enjoyable event for everyone involved. Through the support of local businesses, the SGA gave away approximately one thousand dollars worth of gifts at the second annual skit night.

The Student Government Association also recognized various organizations for their outstanding participation. Skit contest winner was the Sigma Chi Fraternity, Banner winner was HPER, Dummy winner was Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority and overall spirit winner Sigma Chi.

Looking back at Homecoming 1985, the week will be long remembered by student, staff and alumni.

Miss TSU Pageant

"Brothers, do you know what shine it on means?" asked 1985 Miss TSU Tresa Hardin as the curtains opened to a stage full of 43 smiling contestants, all hoping for a chance to be the new Miss TSU. Among the glitter of red, blue, green and sundry other colored dresses, Miss Alabama Angela Tower joined Tresa in the opening number and the show had begun.

The 43 contestants, the most entries in several years, went through a series of competitions. On Friday afternoon February 21, contestants were judged in swim suit, in competition closed to the public and featured were the contestants' talent ranging from dance to piano to voice.

Saturday morning February 22, interviews where held as the three judges judged personality, articulation and poise. That night the final evening gown competition was held, featuring the opening number with Tresa, Angela, and the contestants. The ladies each introduced themselves to the audience, and then came the announcement of the Top 10. Once, again the Top 10 performed their talents and were judged in swimsuit and evening gown. A special number during Saturday's finals featured Carrie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Taylor and Angela Tower performing ballet, Melissa Long daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Long, Jr. and 1982 Miss Alabama and TSU graduate Yolanda Fernandez playing piano, and Angela Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gibson and Tresa Hardin performing vocal to the music of "When you wish upon a star." The music, especially arranged by David Estes, depicted a little girl's admiration and wish to become a star.

As the last talent ended, the crowd nervously awaited the announcement of the court and the 1986 Miss TSU. Receiving the first award from swim suit competition was Marla Franklin, a junior from Birmingham, AL. Then Daun Long, a senior from Troy, received the talent award for her vocal performance of "Ask of Me." Fourth-runner-up was Pam Williams, a senior from Elba, AL; Thirdrunner-up was Dottie Joe Brown, a sophomore from Valdosta, GA; second-runner-up was Shari Sasser a senior from Dothan, AL and first-runner-up was Daun Long. Then came the announcement everyone had been waiting for, the 1986 Miss TSU — Amanda Ober, a sophomore from Bedford, New Hampshire.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Adams hosted a tea at the Chancellor's home on a Sunday afternoon honoring all of the Miss TSU contestants. Mrs. Adams has a special way of welcoming guests and decorating for each occassion in a manner that makes the party very special. This year the "hit" of the party were the "T-Bears". Mrs. Adams is an Honorary Miss TSU.

Ingalls Award for Excellence in Classroom Teaching

Dr. Nicholas D'Andrea was the recipient of the Ingalls Award for Excellence in Classroom Teaching. Dr. D'Andrea, Assistant Professor of Geography, has been with the University since 1968.

The award, sponsored by the Ingalls Foundation of Birmingham which supports quality teaching in colleges and universities, consists of $1000 plus a citation plaque presented by the Foundation. It is the highest award a member of the faculty at Troy State can receive.

Dr. D'Andrea received his B.S. degree from Troy State University and his M.A. and Ph.D from the Univeristy of Southern Mississippi.

Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award

Donna Gay Anderson 's extracurricular and academic accomplishments are well known and show the selfdiscipline and quiet spirit indicative of the Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award," read the citation at the Honors Convocation. Donna was also named the winner of the Panhellenic Award for her outstanding contributions to Greeks life. Donna is a senior Social Work major from Troy.
Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Anderson.

Derek Lane Young, a senior Banking and Finance major from Milledgeville, Georgia, was cited by the Algernon Sidney Sulliven Committee for his "high scholarship, athletic achievement and professional ability" while possessing, "personal qualitities and character which enable him to be pleasant, helpful and dependable. His spiritual beliefs have been translated into everyday action."
Derek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Young.

Donald J. Gibson, Vice President for Student Affairs and Administrative Assistant to the Chancellor, was presented the Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award for "exemplifying throughout his career the standards of service and education associated with the Algernon Sidney Sulliven Award" and "his deep and sincere concern for the welfare of the students at Troy State University which has earned him the respect of the students, his fellow workers and the community."
Mr. Gibson is shown with his wife Mrs. Carolyn H. Gibson.

Honors Convocation

As Spring quarter drew to a close, those who were graduating began to see their dreams realized and those who led them to graduation began to see their efforts, advice and concern rewarded. Honors Convocation, held on Thursday, May 15, 1986, enabled Troy State University to recognize students and faculty members who contributed much to the University and who showed exemplary dedication to higher learning. Dr. Manual Johnson, a native of Troy and a TSU alumni, honored the University by returning as guest speaker. He currently serves as vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors and his successes in life remain a symbol of the fine quality of students Troy State University embodies.

Included among those recognized were Hosea Kirkland (The Beta Beta Beta Scholarship and Service Award), Douglas Thompson (Alpha Psi Sigma Criminal Justice Honor Graduate), Ann Johnson (Sigma Tau Delta and Bernard E. Williams Award), and Justin Durrance,II (Phi Alpha Theta Scholastic Award and the Colonial Dames of America Award). Other recipients include Paul Matthews (The Professor Ray Mathis Award), Alisa Creel (The Virgil L. Collins Mathematics Award), Martha Day (Alabama Society of CPA's Accounting Achievement Award), Melissa Adams (Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key), Doree Harris (Phi Gamma Nu Scholarship Key and Phi Kappa Phi Scholastic Award), and Derek Young (Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award and Ralph W. Adams Leader of the Year Award).

Also receiving awards were Denise Johnson (Tex Whaley Association of Childhood Education Award), Cynthia Squires (Health, Physical Education and Recreation Academic Honors Award), Michael Hays (Psi Chi Award), Cathy Free (W. P. Lewis Outstanding Junior in Education Award), Charles Ellis (R. H. Ervin Outstanding Senior in Education Award) and Starla Kelley (Sigma Alpha Iota Scholastic Award and the Music Department Outstanding Senior Award). Recognitioin was given to Kathleen Jarboe (Georgia Irene Gill Davis Memorial Award), Thomas Griffith (James Burns Clements Award), Mary Blaydes (Sorrell Award), Tammy Murden (Alpha Lambda Delta Outstanding Freshmen Award), Amy Hall (Gamma Beta Phi Outstanding Senior Member arship), and Tami McCray (Alpha Psi Omega Scholastic Award). Sigma Chi fraternity receivied the Interfraternity Council Scholastic Award, and Alpha Gamma Delta sorority received the Panhellenic Council Scholarship Award.

On the TSU campus, students can be found lending a hand in a myraid of ways. Troy State employs approximately 500 students, which is ⅛ of the main campus enrollment. The two types of student jobs are workstudy and workship. Workstudy is based on financial need and is funded by the federal government. There are no required skills for workstudy, students are placed in various offices, or wherever extra help is needed.

The workship program is paid by University funds and is based on skill. Each department does its individual hiring. For example, tutors are hired by departments to assist students in many subjects. When 2X is not the answer and 40778393X-23ypr+67t is, math tutor Suzanne Madison stands ready to come to the rescue. The Writing Center, near Smith Hall, maned with a staff of students and faculty, assists students in writing, but not just for English courses. Eleanor Lee, head of the Center, said students are chosen for their ability to write, spell, and use grammar.

Students can also find jobs working directly on the campus yearbook, newspaper, or Adams Center Union Board. Angela Coleman, publicity chairman for the ACUB, keeps students informed of the many activities the ACUB sponsors. Angela was recommended by the Union Board and approved by the Student Government spring of 1985. "I have really enjoyed working with students, and feel that the experience I have gained will help me in my future career, which is journalism," said Angela.

Cleaning the natatorium pool, washing the pool's decks and watching people constantly to insure water safety may not sound like a glamorous job. But, for Gerry Brooks, who works at the University pool, the benefits are numerous. "I am certified to teach people how to swim, and when I have the chance to teach local kids, it's really neat to see their progress. I feel like I'm really teaching them something they'll always be able to use." Gerry, along with 12 other TSU students, are certified lifegaurds hired to insure the safety of swimmers.

Dorm assistant directors, proctors, and student directors may appear at times to be the great peace makers, or to some, the great "enforcers." But their duties are sometimes more difficult than they seem; there's more to it than yelling at 1 a.m. in the morning, "Turn the radio down, now!" Paper work for dorm assistants may pile to incredible hieghts, especially around room switch time. Steve Dabbs, an assistant director at Alumni, feels he earns his pay in more ways than many people realize. Working in offices, the library, the Adams Center, physical plant, and SAGA are just a few of the other jobs students may hold on campus. Many students find that the extra money is more than just handy; it's a welcomed friend come pay day. Cindy Brown, who works in the counseling office, said "The money I make may not be a lot, but it sure helps when bills come pilling in." Cindy also said, "I enjoy helping students, I feel like it's what this university is about — helping each other get by."

article by Charlie Finch

Good Times, Hard Work . . . All for a Good Cause!!

What is a philanthropy? The dictionary gives the definition: "The love of mankind, especially in acts of charity." Troy State students live this meaning to its fullest extent. By sponsoring fund raisers and other activities, they demonstrate their love and concern for one another, the Troy community, and mankind as a whole. TSU students are not the only ones who get involved; campus administrators, local residents, and city officals donate a lot in the way of time and money. While raising money and providing food and clothing are matters our campus "philanthropists" take to heart, they never fail to have fun in the process. Many TSU organizations raise money for charitable donations, some supporting the same cause each year. While the Greek system is not the sole contributer to and sponsor of philanthropy projects, it does dominate the campus in terms of the amount of donations raised and the number of people who participate. Greek organizations usually support national altruistic foundations, and several at TSU also support local causes. The Greeks are not alone, though, for other service groups on campus do their share for charities.

This past year charitable causes centering around children appeared to dominate the actions of campus philanthropy projects, as groups raised money for charities like the Wallace Village for Children and the Jevenile Diabetes Foundation and hosted activities for local children like the SGA Easter Egg Hunt and HPER's childrens festival. Other charitable causes TSU groups supported included the Muscular Dystrophy Association, the Ronald McDonald House, Project HOPE, Play Units for the Severely Handicapped (P.U.S.H.), the American Heart Association, Pike County Pensions and Security fund and the American Red Cross Blood Drive. Many organizations strived to help the local community by having cookouts for the kids at the Baptist Childrens Home and by playing bingo with the residents at Pike Manor Nursing Home.

While the benefits of the philanthrophies goes to the needy in the final resolve, those who participate in the projects benefit as well. Fun, food, and exercise, supplemented by the gratification of helping others, make it all worth while. Though some of the things seem a bit far fetched, even crazy, they do provide stuff for good, memorable pictures (like fraternity graffiti raids and airband parties). For those who sat around and watched, one thing is certain ... YOU MISSED OUT. Having fun and working hard ... all for a good cause.

WRAPPINGS

From 60's revival to 80's innovation, campus fashions took an anything goes attitude. For classes, blue jeans with virtually any topping were the order of the day, while evenings became traditionally dressier: skirts and rhinestones for girls, khakis and dirty buddy for guys. Girls did not save their inspirations only for dates — in many cases, pastel was the only symbol of femininity with the new androgynous fashions. While the girls borrowed from the traditional menswear designs for sweaters and blouses, both sexes borrowed an important pattern from the sixties, paisley.

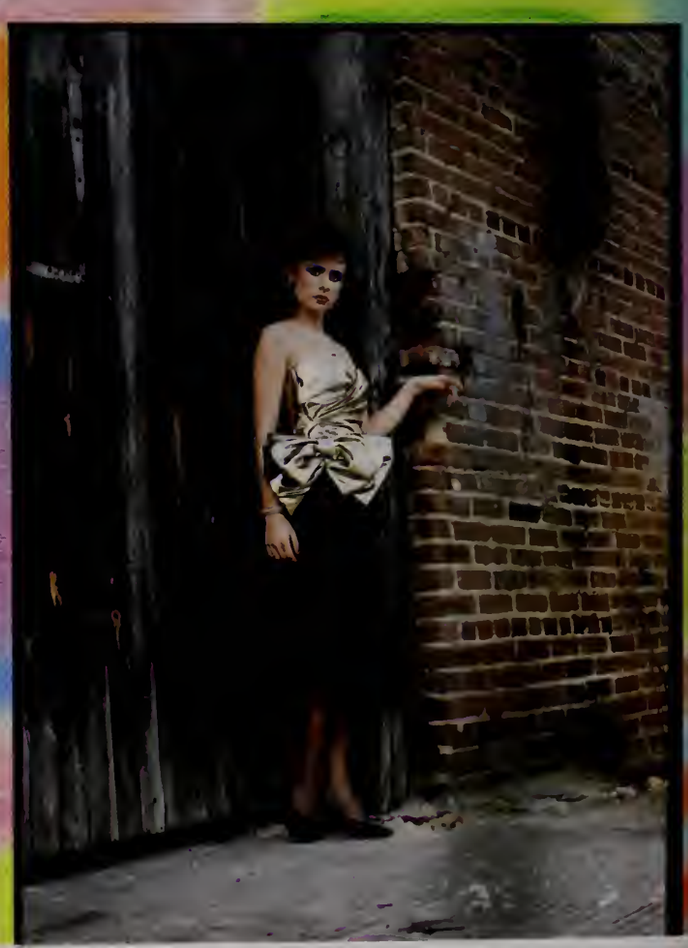
Wrappings

When it comes to clothes, everyone has a statement to make. From rebellious punk to the glimmer and glamour of sultry formal wear, the clothes indeed speak for the person.



Originality is a key factor in choosing a style, but borrowing from the past also works. Why not try bold Victorian floral prints or the classic Forties look in white?

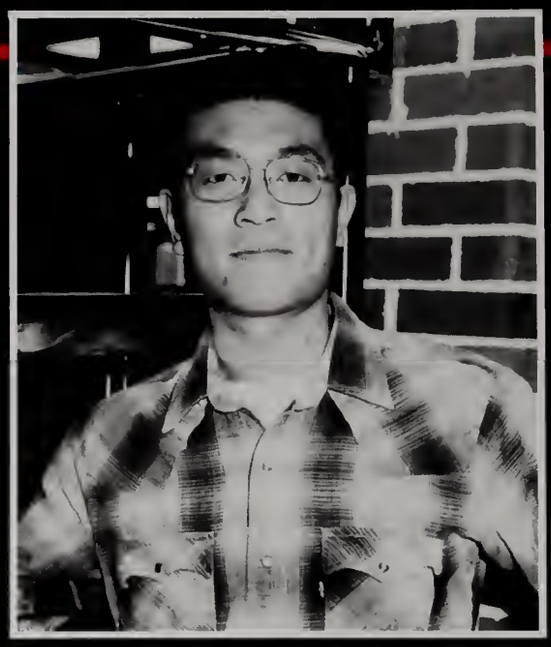
TROY'S INTERNATIONAL APPEAL



During 1985 and 1986, the nations of the world continued their search for mutual understanding and respect. How successful the effort has been or will be is debatable; opinions change constantly, depending upon current issues.

At Troy State an attempt has been made to bridge the cultural and political gaps between the US and foreign countries. The student exchange program provides a vehicle for mutual understanding. Students travel from sundry parts of the world to spend a year or more at TSU. The cultural exchange that develops among foreign students, faculty, and American students serves to enhance both college life and appreciation for other societies.

Six exchange students were chosen by the PALLADIUM staff to relate their experiences at TSU. The six selected were Takanobu Miwa from Japan, Lynda Hughes from Ireland, Ben Wisden from Great Britian, Rainer Carius from Germany, Carlota Mendoca from Brazil, and Mike Christmass from Australia.

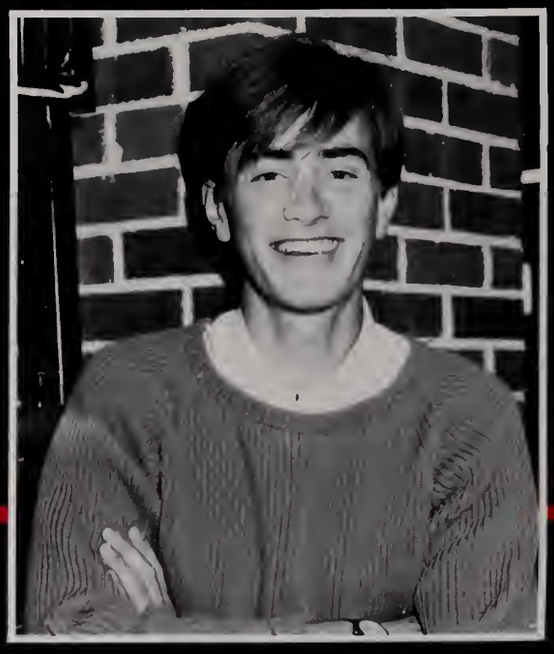
"Wonderful, marvelous, beyond description," is how Takanobu Miwa of Japan describes Troy State. But, when probed further, certain Americanisms bother Takanobu and have been somewhat difficult for him.

For example, American food does not agree with his taste buds. "I miss Japanese cooking which is lighter and more vegetables and rice are used. Whenever possible, I eat Japanese style food." The one main thing he wants to change about TSU is "the taste of SAGA."

Takanobu came to TSU in hopes of learning the American system of economics and management. He plans to "combine the best points of the US and Japanese economic systems." With the knowledge gained, he plans to find a job related to international trade.

Takanobu intends to return to Japan after the 1985-86 school year. Because he is the eldest son, he must return home to take care of his parents, a duty which he takes great pride in.



Making decisions and maturing were two obstacles faced by Lynda Hughes, who comes from the green, rolling hills of Ireland. Mom was too far away from Troy to call every other night if there was a problem , and letters could take as long as two weeks to arrive. "I was forced to grow up over night; I had no family around to do it for me."

Troy State was brought to Lynda's attention by a friend visiting her in Ireland. She was encouraged to apply for a golf scholarship, and, subsequently, was awarded one. Lynda plays golf for the nationally ranked TSU women's golf team.

Other things that took a little getting use to were driving on the "wrong" side of the road and facing the hot, humid weather. "At home it's mountanious and rains a lot. Here it's just hot," she said.

Lynda plans to return to Ireland upon graduation and work in her homeland.

Ben Wisden from London may not have been hindered by the language barrier, but did find differences that set the two countries apart. "The people here in the South are very friendly but are often closed minded. I do enjoy the casual atmosphere at TSU and the working together of the people," said Ben.

At first Ben had some preconcieved notions of what life in the South would be like. "I was afraid to come here (Troy) because I thought it would be like the 'Dukes of Hazzard'."

"To me, the people of Troy are the best part of TSU; going to class is one thing I could do without," said Ben. When asked to describe TSU in one word, he replied in a confident manner, "Party."

Ben has plans to attend Harvard and eventually to work for an accounting firm. He also hopes to return to England and travel in Europe.

Sponsored by the Federation of German-American Clubs, Rainer Carius from Germany was the first exchange student to TSU. Rainer has enjoyed experiencing the differences between the countries educational systems.

"In German universities we have only one exam per semester and it is the students responsibility to keep up with his studies in order to be prepared for his exam," said Rainer.

Rainer had the opportunity to visit various fraternity houses during Fall Rush. Commenting on the Greek system, he believes that there are benefits, such as brotherhood and unity. However, "The disadvantages are on the international level", said Rainer, "There is no social Greek system in German universities."

Upon returning to Germany after the spring of 1986, Rainer plans to continue his studies in mechanical engeneering.

Michael Christmass from Australia might not be considered a typical TSU freshman, but it is more than simply his heritage that makes him unique.

"I've always wanted to come to America ever since I was little. I applied to several colleges in the States in hopes of receiving a scholarship," he explained.

Michael's break came when he was offered a scholarship by TSU's tennis coach Dennis Rogers, which came about through a recommendation by Auburn's tennis coach.

"The Eagle's songs were probably my biggest inspiration for wanting to see America because of the imagery of the US that was created in their songs," explained Michael.

Michael plans on staying at TSU until spring 1987 and then travel to Europe and play some tennis tournaments there.

Carlota Mendoca from Brazil was able to experience something new on the Delta Chi ski trip during winter quarter — snow.

"We went to North Carolina and it was so much fun, I just couldn't believe it — snow! I also had the chance to ski for the first time," said Carlota.

Carlota was a high school exchange student and stayed with Lisa Boutwell, who, upon entering TSU, invited Carlota to attend college with her.

"One of the things I really enjoy is the social life at TSU. At home we just go to school and return home."

At the end of winter quarter 1986, Carlota plans to return home, but she hopes to come back to Troy fall quarter and join a sorority.

The President's Mansion

Photography by Cara English

The President's Mansion is a building with a story to tell. Construction of the mansion began under the presidency of Charles Bunyan Smith, and its first inhabitants were the succeeding president, Dr. Frank Ross Stewart. After Dr. Stewart's death, Dr. Ralph Adams became president, and he and his wife Dorothy moved into the mansion in 1964. Since then, Mrs. Adams has shaped the house into a true showcase of TSU history and hospitality.

A great deal of the decor in the mansion includes antiques and items from overseas. Mrs. Adam's collections of bells, dolls, plates, and cookbooks add to the mansion's ambience.

Special features in the house, which are memorable for those who visit, are the Trojan Porch,done in the university's colors — red and black;Rogue's Gallery, the hall lined with pictures of the Adams' friends and acquantances; and the frosted glass panes which border the front door. The panes were created by an original process developed by Mr. Ed Walter of the TSU Art Department.

The family dog, Fido, and the ghost of Dr. Stewart are two other inhabitants who cause all kinds of mischief. The ghost, Mrs. Adams says, roams the halls of the mansion, opening doors and shifting pictures on the walls.

The President's Mansion stands as a symbol of TSU and serves as more than just a home for the University president and his wife. Its doors are open for dignitaries, faculty and students, reflecting the hospitality of its inhabitants as well as the congenial attitude of the University.

. . . Off Campus Living

"Nobody told me I would have to share my bathroom with thirty other people." These and other sentiments have often been used in reference to the tradition of dorm life.

What are the alternatives? Apartments, trailers, and a handful of houses for rent offer many students the comforts and, unfortunately the responsibilities of home. With no maids and no meal ticket, it was often a good idea to get acquainted with a sponge and a T.V. dinner.

Arty Wright, who lives in an off-campus apartment, thought of authoring "1001 Things To Do With a Ham Sandwich." With this responsibility came more freedom and more privacy, perhaps the strongest incentives for students to move off campus. Alison Mullin, who rents a house, enjoys being able to have private parties, and Lisa Holmes likes to cook dinner at her apartment for that "special friend." This privacy sounds great, but does it cut off from the main stream of campus activities?

Lisa Hutcheson maintains that apartment life does not seclude her from campus; in fact, she finds that the major difference between dorm and apartment life is that she does not have to move out of her apartment at the end of each quarter.

Freedom has its price, although most students say that the benefits of living off campus greatly outweigh the monetary requirements. Even in a city the size of Troy, apartments, houses and trailers offer students rent costs ranging from the very inexpensive to the relatively expensive. The secret to finding a steal is the same secret to finding a good used car: a diligent search. Many have found what they were looking for — even if it was their senior year before they found it.

Those thirty other people are pretty annoying when you've been standing in a towel for fifteen minutes. Just keep in mind that these thirty other people and many more are sharing the rent.

TSU BASKETBALL

SHOWTIME

Flying through the air with the greatest of ease were hundreds of airplanes during halftime of TSU basketball games. Fans constructed the planes with great percision, in hopes of creating a "mean flying machine." The greatest care was taken to launch the cruisers, aimed toward their final destinations — the gym floor.

Although the paper air plane escapades may sound like an episode from the memories of a juvenile delinquent, the outcome was much more rewarding. Students, faculty and other spectators threw the planes, hoping to win prizes. Envelopes were placed on the court, with various prizes listed inside. The plane which landed closest to an envelope was declared the winner, and the launcher, whose name was printed somewhere on the plane, could win various prizes. Some of the prizes included dinners for two, 10 gallons of gasoline and sometimes even money. Local merchants donated many of the prizes, and a total of $2,000 in merchandise and cash was given away. The paper air plane mania was just one of the attempts made by Coach Maestri and staff to increase attendance at the games. At the conclusion of the season, attendance records were broken for the second year in a row, and expectations were high for the 86-87 season.

In addition to the air plane throw, an Iroch Z28, valued at $15,000, was up for grabs. Three names were drawn from a basket and each person had 25 seconds to successfully complete a series of basketball shots. Though the feat may have seemed impossible to some, there were a few who came close. When the season ended, no one could claim the car as theirs.

Another halftime activity which proved to be very successful was Fraternity Night. Amid a crowd of rowdy Greeks, whose cheering ran rampant through the gym, brothers of the fraternities competed in a tricycle race, a Rambo look-alike contest, a basketball spin marathon, and a free throw competition. Halftime activities, combined with the excitement during the games, made TSU Basketball — Showtime!

HOW TO SURVIVE BUDGET SHOCK

Being broke is no stranger to college students — everyone finds his wallet empty at one time or another. Many find it hard to survive on the minimal budget received from parents or the money earned from a part-time job. Of course, some life styles require the budget of a "Rockefeller."

Most college students go through a traditional phase when first entering school. The initial part is rather easy: students regularly receive a small fortune in the mail from parents, once the money is recieved, the newly found freedom of being independent hits like a brick. "Oh, I just have to have this for my new dorm room" or "I have to have that new outfit to wear on campus" are expressions one might say as an inexperienced freshman. When the reality of bills or other expenses hit, however, the initial fit of having money wears off and poverty sets in.

There are many ways students try to overcome the effects of little or no money. Calling home or writing letters to Mom and Dad is usually the first approach. Wording is carefully planed and the conversation carries on until Mom or Dad asks, "Need anything?" Then, of course, the student, after mustering every ounce of courage, asks for the needed funds. If the answer is "Yes," a feeling of relief sets in — until the money runs out again.

If the answer is "No!," the instinct of budget-stretching takes over. Peanut butter and jelly sandwiches are delicacies in the college student's diet, and macaroni and cheese, tuna fish, and noodles (25 cents a package) are necessary for shopping lists.

If one's social life suffers from his lack of money — Heaven forbid! — he can become creative with his extra time. Popcorn parties, trivial pursuit marathons, or just watching T.V. and drinking cheap beverages are alternatives for the poverty-stricken partier. Somehow, no matter how low the student may be on money, he manages to find funds for the weekend, known as the "I can't eat this week, I need money for Friday night" syndrome.

Rolling pennies, buying generic food, and clipping out coupons are all symptoms of the dreaded Negative Cash Flow disease. Toward the end of the quarter is when the plague hits the hardest; the check book begins to dwindle and Mom and Dad recieve weekly, daily, even hourly phone calls. But one must remember that a job and "real money" await for he who survives four years of academics and borderline poverty.

SEEK.

Summer Education Expanding Knowledge

Many of the thirty-three young men and women who came to Troy State for summer quarter 1985's SEEK Program had never been on a college campus, but they were no strangers to the academic world. Under the direction of Admissions Counselor Van English, SEEK, (which stands for Summer Education Expanding Knowledge) united high school juniors with exceptional grades and entrance exam scores. Thirty of the students came to the University on George C. Wallace Academic Scholarships, which are renewable after the students graduate from high school.

The scholastic talents exhibited by these young people were just one facet of their potential. Throughout the summer, many of them became involved in The Music Man, the Opera Workshop production. They played summer league sports, performed in a talent show, and injected themselves into the mainstream of college life. Weekly meetings allowed them to openly discuss problems and to make suggestions. Monday night seminars provided information and interchange on such topics as career planning, extracurricular activities, Greek life, and effective study techniques. Professors continually commented on the excellent class participation and superior intelligence of the SEEKers. Some of them even tutored upperclassmen!

Although academic challenge was stated as the main objective of the SEEK in its charter year, the rewards of the program were multiple. Many solid and lifelong friendships were begun; in fact, several of the SEEK students were so pleased with the college experience that they elected to skip their senior year of high school to remain at Troy State for fall quarter 1985.

"The SEEK program put me right in the heart of TSU's activities and let me be a college student for two months. Fortunatly, I was able to return fall, pledge a sorority and become involved on campus."

Leigh Golden

"The SEEK program was a collection of many different students, all wanting to get a head start on their high school peers."

"I have no regrets about skipping my senior year."

Eric Stephens

"After students recover from the initial shock of learning my age (17), they seem to forget that I am an early admission student. I am treated as equally as everyone else."

Kim Carlton

"Adjusting to TSU has not been difficult for me because the experience I gained over the summer put me one step ahead of entering freshmen fall quarter."

Amanda Hoskins

SEEK counselors Donna Anderson, a social rehab major from Troy, and Bud Palmer, a public relations major from St. Petersburg, commented that working with the program was one of the most rewarding and beneficial experiences of their college carrer. The success of SEEK will be measured by the attainments of its products for years to come. Ten of the thirty students involved in the SEEK program chose the option to skip their senior year of high school. Many of these students became active in honor societies, sororities, the Palladium, and many other facets of campus life. In addition to extracuricular activities, the students were required to keep a high grade point average while enrolled.

SPRING QUARTER BLUE SKIES AND GOOD TIMES

Spring Quarter is a time for ole Mr. Sun to peak through the mirage of clouds that seem to taint Winter Quarter. Spring fever fills the air as the azaleas bloom and the campus becomes alive with activity. Students return from Spring Break refreshed and ready to study, eager to attend classes and a little tired from perhaps having too much fun, well, at least a little tired if not eager or refreshed.

Keeping fit for fun

At Pace Hall, as well as several other spots on campus, students create their own beach, 2½ hours away from the nearest sandy shores. Tan bodies invade the campus and many become victims of a wild and crazy disease — Beach Fever! Students can be seen on weekends, which usually begin Thursday night, heading for Panama City, Ft. Walton Beach, or other beach havens. (cont. next page)

SPRING

Spring sports offer a wide variety of ways to relax, shape-up, and of course sweat! Temperatures in Troy can be mild during March and April, but, May can bring temperatures well in the 90's. Nevertheless, baseball fever catches many students who enjoy seeing TSU's nationally ranked team win game after game. Tennis, swimming, bicycling, and softball become favorite sports on campus as students mix work and play. Concentrating on classes, especially attending classes, can be difficult during Spring Quarter. Some professors try to relieve the spring quarter blues by holding classes outdoors in the quad or other shady spots on campus.

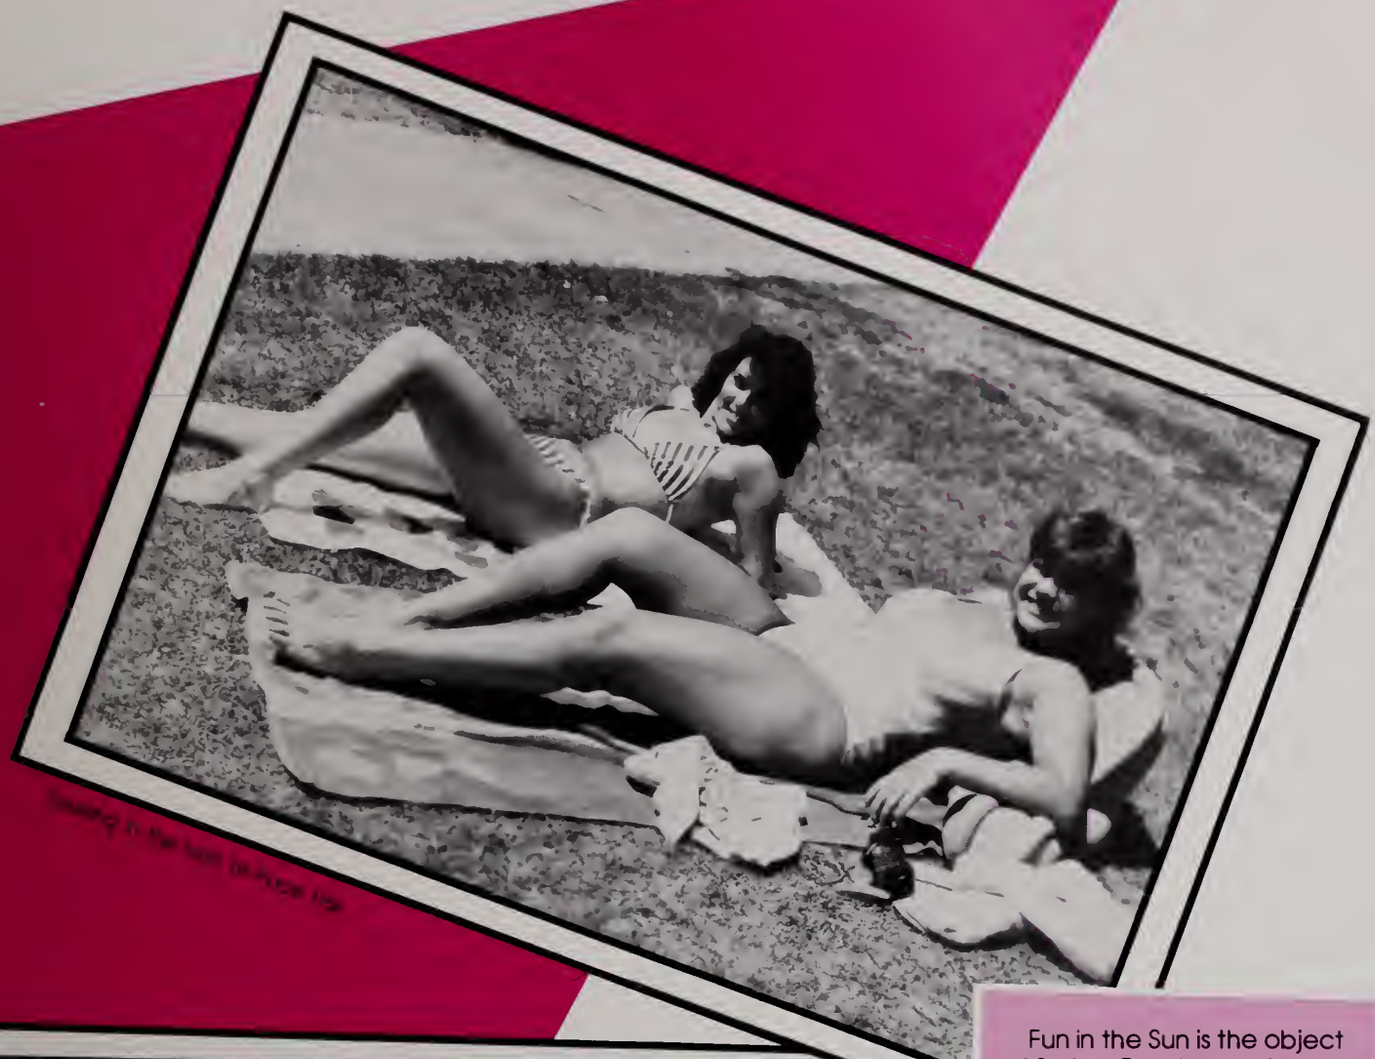
Mellow Yellow Chug at May Day



Fun in the Sun is the object of Spring Quarter, and there are a multitude of ways to have a good time. Fraternities and sororities party at beach bashes, the Adams Center Union Board holds its annual May Day Carnival, which is a day of food, fun, and frolic; and P.E. classes, such as canoeing and sailing, are held under blue skies at the TSU lake. Though an occasional shower may get in the way, spring is still synanomous with blue skies, tan bodies, and fun!

IN THE NEWS . . .

The year of 1985-86 was filled with many events of both national and local interest which fused together to make an interesting year.

Nationally, NASA suffered a major set back in its space program when the space shuttle, Challenger, exploded shortly after lift-off on January 28, 1986.

National pride and spirit peaked in April when President Reagan launched an attack on Colonel Kadhaffy of Lybid. This attack occurred after United States officals found evidence that Kadhaffy was planning to promote several terrorist acts throughout the world. Reagan's stand against terrorism was supported by most Americans.

Americans were also concerned about the Russian Nuclear accident that happened in May. Russian officals originally announced the accident as a major disaster, but later changed their reports to say that the incident was small-scale and had done little damage; nevertheless, the event caused a rise in concern about the safety of nuclear power plants.

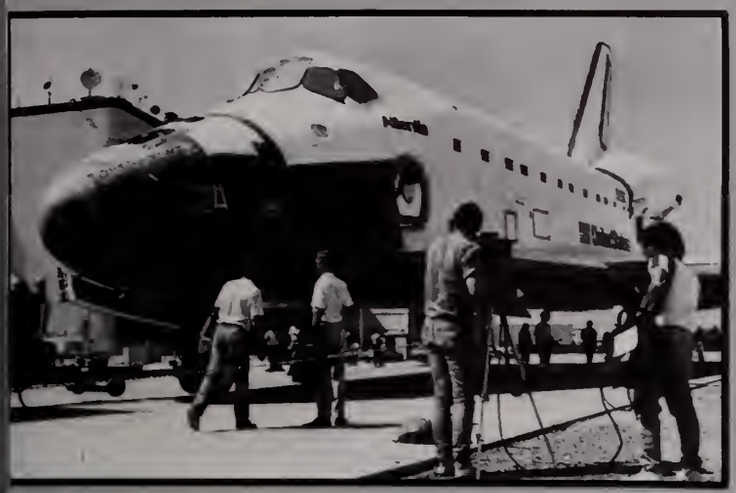
In Alabama, on a sad note, George Wallace announced his decision to end his political career after he finished serving his fourth term as governor of Alabama. His decision to retire put an end to his forty year political career.

In the sports scene this past year, the state of Alabama was elated when Auburn University's running back Bo Jackson was awarded the prestigious Heisman trophy. Nationaliy, the NFL season was highlighted by the Chicago Bear's near perfect season in which they lost only one game. The Bear's, with their famous scorer William "Refrigerator" Perry, ended the NFL season by winning the superbowl. Over the past year the music industry introduced new groups and singers such as Ready for the World, Mr. Mister, and Whitney Houston. These performers made popular songs like "Oh Sheila," "Broken Wings," and "You Give Love." Radio stations played hits like "Harlem Shuffle," "Kiss," and "I Want My MTV" recorded by firmly established bands and singers such as The Rolling Stones, Prince, and Dire Straits.

The movie world provided many different types of visual entertainment during the year. Serious dramas such as "Out of Africa" and "The Color Purple" grossed millions of dollars in theatres as did lighter films like "Back to the Future."

Television experienced the year of NBC. With hit shows such as "Miami Vice" and "The Cosby Show" leading its weekly line up of popular shows, NBC held the position of number one television network for the first time in over thirty years.

1985-86 in Review



An interesting and memorable year, 1985-86, was filled with events of local as well as national interest. These events molded together to make this past year an unforgettable one.

There's a little bit of punk in all of us.

Whether the "punk" is inspired by the sounds of rock-n-roll, new wave, country, or soul, the "ham" in all of us definitely shines when it comes to playing like the stars do. TSU students caught the airband and lip sync wave and rode it all year long, competing at fraternity airband parties and participating in ACUB's sponsoring of "Putting on the Hits."

It may have looked crazy, but it definitely did not stop anyone from having a good time. As one girl put it, "I kept thinking I would make a fool out of myself, and even though I may have, people laughed and I like the attention." Attention centered among songs from the 1970's at one airband party, bringing back "oldies but goldies" and inducing the audience to sing along.

Being in the lime light meant dressing for the part, thus TSU students hit the Good Will store, their parents closets, and anywhere else they could find the necessary apparel for their gimmicks. And, of course, the instruments were essential. While some had authenic guitars and keyboards, others had to make their own. If there wasn't a piano handy, an ironing board would suffice.

Troy State star-struck as such celebrities as Micheal Jackson and the Jackson 5, KISS, the Beatles, Journey, Boston, the Bee Gee's, Ray Stephens, and the Blues Brothers entertained, no autographs, please!! And even if only for a little while, those who assumed their identities were famous and felt just a little bit special.

The TSU cheerleaders traveled to Atlanta, Georgia when they were asked to cheer for the NFL's Atlanta Falcons. For the cheerleaders this was a great opportunity, one most of them will not forget.

The cheerleaders were provided Altanta Falcon uniforms and complimentary tickets to the game. Cheerleader, Andy Martin said, "It was great to cheer for such a large crowd, but it was hard to get them fired up. Overall it was a lot of fun."

One problem the cheerleaders found while preparing for the Falcons game was that many of Troy's cheers did not adapt to the Atlanta Falcons, but the cheerleaders adjusted quickly and had a good time.

PROFILE

Article by Audrey Nelson.

The island of Barbados is a tiny dot about 166 square miles in the Caribbean Sea. To most students here at Troy State, Barbados is a wonderful dream vacation for the rich and famous, but to Winter Pilgrim, a native of the island, it is home.

Winter is a 19-year-old first quarter freshman attending TSU on a track scholarship. His hometown is St. Michaels Parish on the island of Barbados.

"I miss home a lot," says Winter. "I miss the sunshine that is there all year round. We have no four seasons like here. All we have is the wet and dry season. I miss the beaches, family and friends and my girl."

Winter is the younger of two children and the only boy. He likes slow mellow music, reggae music, running track and cooking.

Barbadoes is not only rich in spicy foods but also rich in culture.

"The main income is sugar cane and tourism," says Winter. All over the world people come to Barbados from Germany, Canada, Florida, and Spain for the beaches, food and West-Indian culture."

Barbado's population is about 250,000 so it is, in comparison, about the size of Mobile. The buildings are small and rarely go over 20 stories high and the island, itself, is completely populated with coconut trees.

As for the future, Winter is planning on majoring in accounting. "I would like to get my masters here in the states, maybe here at the university, maybe not, I don't know. I do know that I don't want to live in the states. The accounting field is wide open in Barbados. I will probably work here for five years, save some money to go home, then leave."

"Home is home," says Winter, "no matter where else I go, no matter how big or advanced, it will always come second to Barbados."

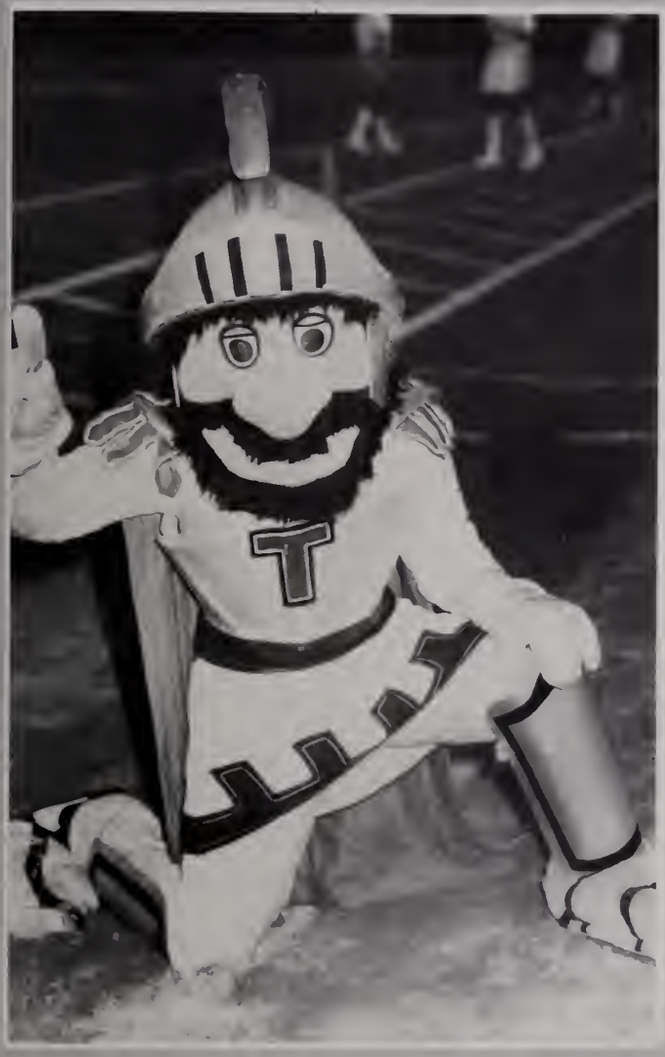
The Man Behind the Mask



During the 1984 football season, Troy State University received a welcomed addition to its fanfare, T-Roy. The mascot soon became a notable personality on campus and a spirit raiser at all sporting activities. In addition to appearing at football games and other sporting events, T-Roy added his antics at alumni functions, fund raisers, and parades throughout the state.

Who is the great masked warrior whose comic relief raises Trojan spirits? The man behind the mask is Andrew Henderson. Andrew is a sophomore from Alexander City majoring in Advertising/Public Relations and Broadcast Journalism.

T-Roy is not Andrew's first experience as a mascot. During high school at Benjamin High he was, "Alex" the Benjamin Wildcat.

Andrew's experience as a mascot was enhanced when he attended spirit camp in Nashville, Tennessee in August, 1985. There he learned more about raising and promoting school spirit. To T-Roy, alias Andrew Henderson, being a Trojan was a T-rific experience.

PROFILE

Cathy Coleman, a senior from Dothan, Alabama, designed the cover of the 1985-1986 Palladium. Cathy became interested in art during her freshman year of high school and is now pursuing a major in Art and minors in Art History and German. Cathy says that she enjoys being an individual, which is evident by her plans for the future. She would like to use her art background in a career of fashion design, where she hopes to design clothing and set fashion trends of her own.

Her short range goal is to become a flight attendant for an airline. She feels that this experience will aid her by providing a greater knowledge of people, personalities, and trends, both nationally and internationally.

TSU Recognizes Martin Luther King's Birthday

The Afro American Society of Troy State University held a brief ceremony at Bibb Graves Quad January 20 at 11:50 a.m., recognizing national Martin Luther King Day.

The ceremonial tribute, which occurred during the 10 minute interval between classes, honored the slain national leader who quoted himself as being a "drum major for peace and justice."

Students, along with several members of the faculty gathered in the quad for tribute. AAS vice president Lister Portis opened the cermonies by asking everyone to join hands to symbolize unity. Denise Dunbar, AAS President, spoke briefly on King's struggle and his plight.

"This is the first year we as a nation celebrate Dr. King's birthday. Today is a national holiday with national implications."

Clifford Cannedy gave a moving speech on how Dr. King's dream has come into existence. "But we still have a long way to go," he says. "If it hadn't been for Dr. King we wouldn't be here holding hands together today."

Gloria Lynch spoke briefly to the predominantly black audience and told them to remember King's philosophy, to be free in every sense of the word. "We've been coasting too long. No one can save us, from us, for us," she said.

A prayer by Michelangelo James and the singing of the Black National Anthem, "Lift Every Voice and Sing," led by Ken Spears, concluded the program.

At the close of the ceremony, Dunbar told the audience to put aside all pettiness and all other differences and be "King" for a day.

PROFILE

Diane Ficke, a 20 year old junior at Troy State University, "aims high" as an Air Force ROTC student and aimed higher as an exchange student in Germany Spring quarter 1986.

Ficke received a Federation of German American Clubs scholarship to study at Germany's oldest college, Heidleberg University, south of Frankfurt. Her stay in Germany began in March and ended during the summer.

Living abroad was not new to Ficke because her father is an officer in the Air Force. Moving constantly has always been a part of her lifestyle.

The education system in Germany is very different from the Troy State University system. "You have to take care of everything such as classes, grades, and hours you've had. Tests are piled on at the end of the semester instead of being spread throughout the semester. And the classes are taught in German." Ficke said.

Ficke has been interested in Germany for a long time. "My father's ancestry is in Germany, and I have done a personal study of the German langauge since I was 12 years old."

Yogurt Craze

It's hard to believe that an all-natural food that fights bacteria and relieves tension and strees could taste as good as ice cream. But not only does it taste as good as ice cream, it has also taken the place of ice cream, at least at Troy State University.

Frozen yogurt's popularity has made it a top seller at TSU and a favorite among students and staff. It is an all-natural health food that has only 37 calories per ounce, about 40% less calories than an ounce of ice cream. The Adams Center Dining Room in the Ralph Wyatt Adams University Center began providing TSU students with frozen yogurt during the Fall quarter of the 1985-86 school year.

Frozen yogurt is different from the kind you buy in grocery stores because of the way in which it is made. It is frozen and served from a machine very similar to a soft-serve ice cream machine. It's taste is also similar to ice cream — a very rich ice cream.

For those students who like regular grocery store yogurt, frozen yogurt is a special treat. For those who don't like regular yogurt one try could turn your taste buds to the yogurt craze.

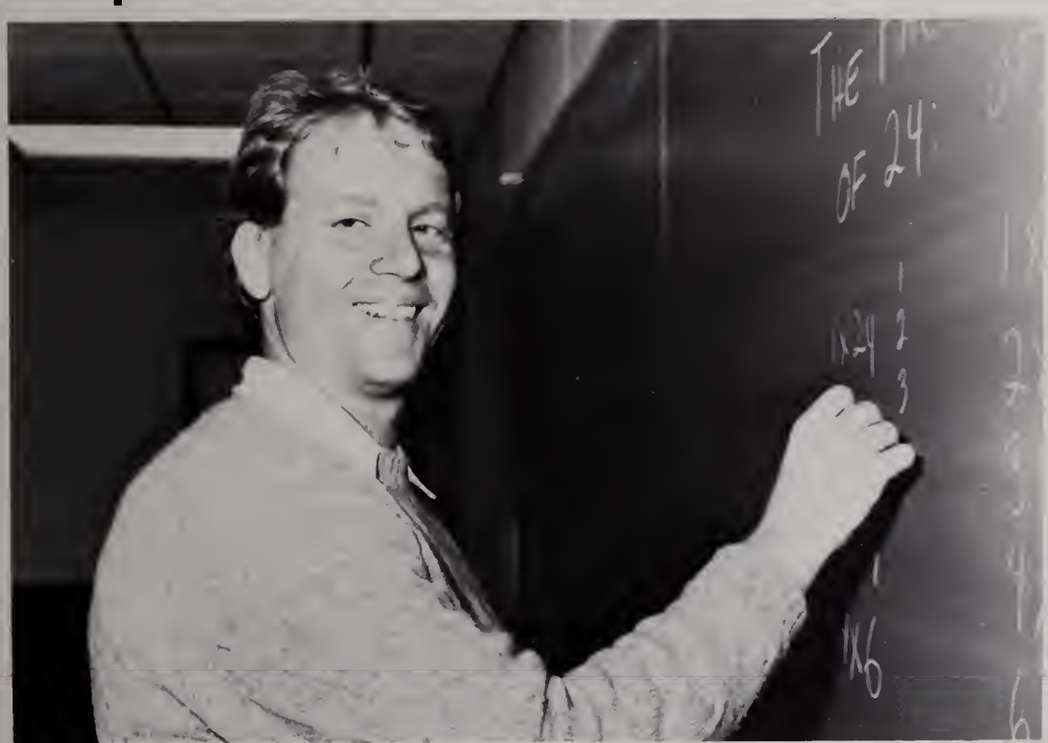
Experience Counts



When asked what is your comprehensive overview of internship from an education stand point, Scott Graves replied, "My internship in Elementary Education, which I completed Winter quarter of 1986, was the best experience of my Troy State teacher-education program. It brought into perpective the usefulness of the things I had been taught at TSU, the thoroughness of the Elementary Education program, and provided an intensive exposure to the one aspect of teaching which cannot be taught, only experienced — the learner.

The Art Department Gets a New Home

New letters and room numbers on class schedules, teachers wandering around a new section of the campus and lost freshmen and seniors alike behind Bibb Graves Hall are just some of the ways the Wallace D. Malone Hall of Fine Arts has affected the TSU campus since its completion summer 1985.

The Wallace D. Malone Hall of Fine Arts is an example of adaptive uses of older buildings which are structurally sound and lend themselves to constructive rehabilitation. The main architectural feature of the former structure, a U-shaped building housing the university Physical Plant services, was concrete building block on a cement slab.

Taking into account current programs and academic funtions, faculty members of the Department of Art and Classsics worked intensively for more than two years with architects Sherlock, Smith and Adams to redesign the facilities to not only take care of present requirements but to provide the projected future needs of the dapartment as well.

What resulted was a complete refurbishing of the U-structure with a skin of red face-brick to house the areas of drawing, painting, pottery, ceramics, sculpture, metal work and faculty and departmental offices. The former receiving area was converted to an Art Gallery containing approximately 4000 square feet and 120 linear feet of diplay space.

A new two story structure was added at the southern end of the U which enclosed the open space into a courtyard, a unique feature of the department's former home in Kilby Hall.

The lower level houses photography, printmaking and art education classrooms. On the upper level are general classroons varying from large to seminar room in size. A unique feature of the two second floor large classrooms in the provision for rear screen projection and viewing with total light control capability.

The Wallace D. Malone Jr. Hall of Fine Arts is dedicated to Wallace D. Malone Jr., a well known Alabama businessman and banker. Malone is president pro tem of the Troy State University board of trustees.

PROFILE

Phil Brannon, a 1985 graduate of Troy State University, made a dream a reality last summer during his senior year at Troy State. That dream was the opportunity to professionally record an album of sacred piano music. This undertaking was made possible by friends of Phil's who saw the extraordinary talent and potential that this 23-year old young man posessed.

Phil bagan his studies in piano at the age of nine and upon his arrival at TSU in 1980 became involved in numerous activities. Phil said, "playing trumpet in the Sound of the South and sitting under the baton of Dr. Johnny Long was the highlight of his college career."

Brannon received degrees in music performance and public relations and is employed with Troy Bank and Trust Co. as head of the Public Relations department. He travels all across the southeast performing concerts at churches, conventions, banquets and weddings.

PROFILE

Troy State has 22 campuses in Europe, which many students on the main campus do not realize. Among the many campuses, the branch in Madrid, Spain was brought to the Palladium's attention through a transfer student to the main campus. Deborah Economides, from Madrid, transferred to Troy to finish the last 22 hours of her business major.

According to Deborah, "the classes at TSU in Madrid are held in one building with approximately 20 people in each class. The student body consists of about 90% GI's and 10% Spanish and American students combined."

Deborah also commented that the curriculum here at Troy is "basically the same." However, physical education courses are not required at TSU, Madrid as they are in Troy. She added, "Every class at TSU/Madrid is a three-hour credit with no exceptions; and the quarters are only eight weeks long each."

Deborah plans to return to Spain after completing her degree here.

Pam Adams, a senior majoring in Broadcast Journalism and Public Relations, experienced a role reversal during basketball season. During the 83-84 and 84-85 seasons, Pam played point guard for the Lady Trojans.

At the first of 1985 school year, Coach Joyce Sorrell offered Pam a position as Assistant Coach and Recruitor for women's basketball.

"At first it was difficult coaching because all the girls saw me as a teammate, not as a coach. Over some time though, everything worked out," said Pam.

"It's funny because I see the reasons why Coach Sorrell does things the way she does, which I had trouble understanding when I was a player," she said.

Coaching girls who she played with last year did not present that much of a problem to Pam. However, there were times when she wished she was out on the court, struggling with her teammates. "We had problems with our point guard, and I wished I was out there playing," she said.

Pam hopes to combine her coaching experience and broadcasting skills to become the first woman play by play sports announcer.

PROFILE

Two Troy State students found that the opportunities available at the WTSU-TV station were very educational as well as instrumental to their careers.

Brenda Sando, a sophomore from Enterprise is majoring in Broadcast Journalism and enjoys her position as news director for WTSU-TV. Her expertise at her job earned her the Hall School of Journalism 1985 Best Reporter Award.

Sando said that she enjoys working for the television station because "TV gives you more opportunities to show your personality. You can take what you learn in television and do many different kinds of films." Brenda has hopes one day to do an internship for Ted Turner at CNN News.

Myra Merril, a senior from Florala, majoring in Broadcast Journalism was also bitten by the TV bug. Her past experience at WKWV radio in Florala enhanced her abilities to report the news, and she advanced to the position as news producer at WTSU. Myra also worked mornings for WRJM Radio broadcasting the news. Merril plans to pursue a career in radio and television and plans are in the works for a job in the Panama City area.

Troy State has both a radio and television station which are open to students interested in broadcasting careers. The experience gained at these stations has often provided students the confidence needed in their careers.

Celebration of Women

During fall quarter, 1985-86, at Troy State University, Chancellor Ralph Adams signed a resolution designating winter quarter 1985-86, as a Celebration of Women. The purpose of the celebration was to recognize the many, various contributions that women have made to improve the quality of life.

The celebration included special speakers, programs, and exhibits. It was led off by Dr. Loretta Long, better known as "Susan" on television's popular series "Sesame Street." Long, a professional educator and actress, spoke on "Women and Education."

TSU was also honored by the presence of Kathryn Tucker Windham, who portrayed Julia Tutwiler in her play, "My Name is Julia." Windham collected information and material on the life of Julia Tutwiler for ten years, and the play, "My Name is Julia," is her tribute to "Alabama's most remarkable woman."

With the end of winter quarter, the Celebration of Women will come to a close. But gone is not necessarily forgotten.

The making of The New Moon

In presenting a stage production, the amount of work that is involved surprises many people. Those who are not familiar with a drama production may be baffled by the way everything seems to fall together at the last minute. In spite of last minute changes and corrections, the TSU Drama/ Music Department continuously presents a professional performance.

After the director has selected the show, which is the first step in a long line of events, the costume and scene designers, lighting and sound technicians, chorus mistress and orchestra director, and the choreographer (if the show is a musical) meet together to discuss plans for the show. Then, each designer goes his own way and, after several weeks of dilligent work, will meet again as the shows comes together, bit by bit.

While the actors are in rehersal, sometimes on stage and sometimes in the classroom, work behind the stage is huming to the tune of hammers and saws and to the whisper of paint brushes. All of these efforts blend together to create the visual mood and setting of time and place.

Others busy at work include the choreographer who carefully counts beats and steps to taped music and sees that dancers stay in time and flow with the music.

The costumer sketches designs of each costume and measures the actors. Fabrics and colors are selected to match the time and place the play is depicting. Color schemes are many times crucial in presenting an eye-appealing picture as the curtain rises on each scene. The costumer and several assistants work to insure that each costume well represents the character and his personality.

The lighting and sound designer create magical moods on stage. Sunrises, rain storms, romantic moon and stary nights are just a few of the settings these technicians can create. The audience, through sound and light, can artifically be carried to exotic or romantic places.

Shortly before the first dress rehearsal, all involved become nervous: Will the show face certain doom and never "fly" ? Feelings of apprehension are relieved as pieces begin to fall together. Everyone's nerves begin to be tested and the adrenaline begins to flow, giving life to the upcoming performance.

On opening night actors, stage crew, directors, and costumers feel the excitement as Smith Hall, or sometimes Kilby Hall, fills with an expectant crowd.

BEHIND THE SCENES

After the production, the stage must be "struck," or taken down, costumes must be packed away, props and furnitures stored, scores and scripts must be accounted for and filed. The lighting gels are striped away, and the stage again is swept bare and lies waiting for the next production.

Then comes cast party time. All the actors, technicians, designers, conductors, directors and friends get together to relax and rehash each moment of the show. And, even with all the work done, late hours spent, problems and sometimes disasters, and pledges of, "I'll never do this again," thoughts of the next show surface and the whole process begins again.

Lyceum Series presents

Lewis Grizzard

Lewis Grizzard is often called "a true possessor of humor" and is responsible for making thousands of Americans chuckle over his nationally acclaimed columns and books. Moreover, courtesy of the Lyceum Series, Mr. Grizzard carried his witty remarks and bawdy tales to Troy State University where he made his audience want to "roll on the floor laughing."

Grizzard tickled his Troy fans with stories about his three former wives, whom he candidly referred to as the "plaintiffs" and his more recent trip to Russia. Grizzard complained there was nothing to occupy his mind or pocketbook in the U.S.S.R.; "They don't even have souvenirs." A journalism major from the University of Georgia, Grizzard also delighted the audience with tales of "them Georgia Dawgs."

Grizzard's success story is one worth hearing, as very few achieve the fame and fortune he has through newspaper journalism. And yet, he continues to type his columns on a 1959 manual typewriter. Computers are out of the question.

Currently a special assignment editor for The Atlanta Constitution, Grizzard has written for such publications as The Chicago Sun Times, The Atlanta Journal, and Sports Illustrated. He is famous for immortalizing people from his life, as is seen his award-winning book Kathy Sue Loudermilk, I Love You, a comical story about his first love. One of his more recent and best known books is Shoot Low, Boys, They're Ridin' Shetland Ponies.

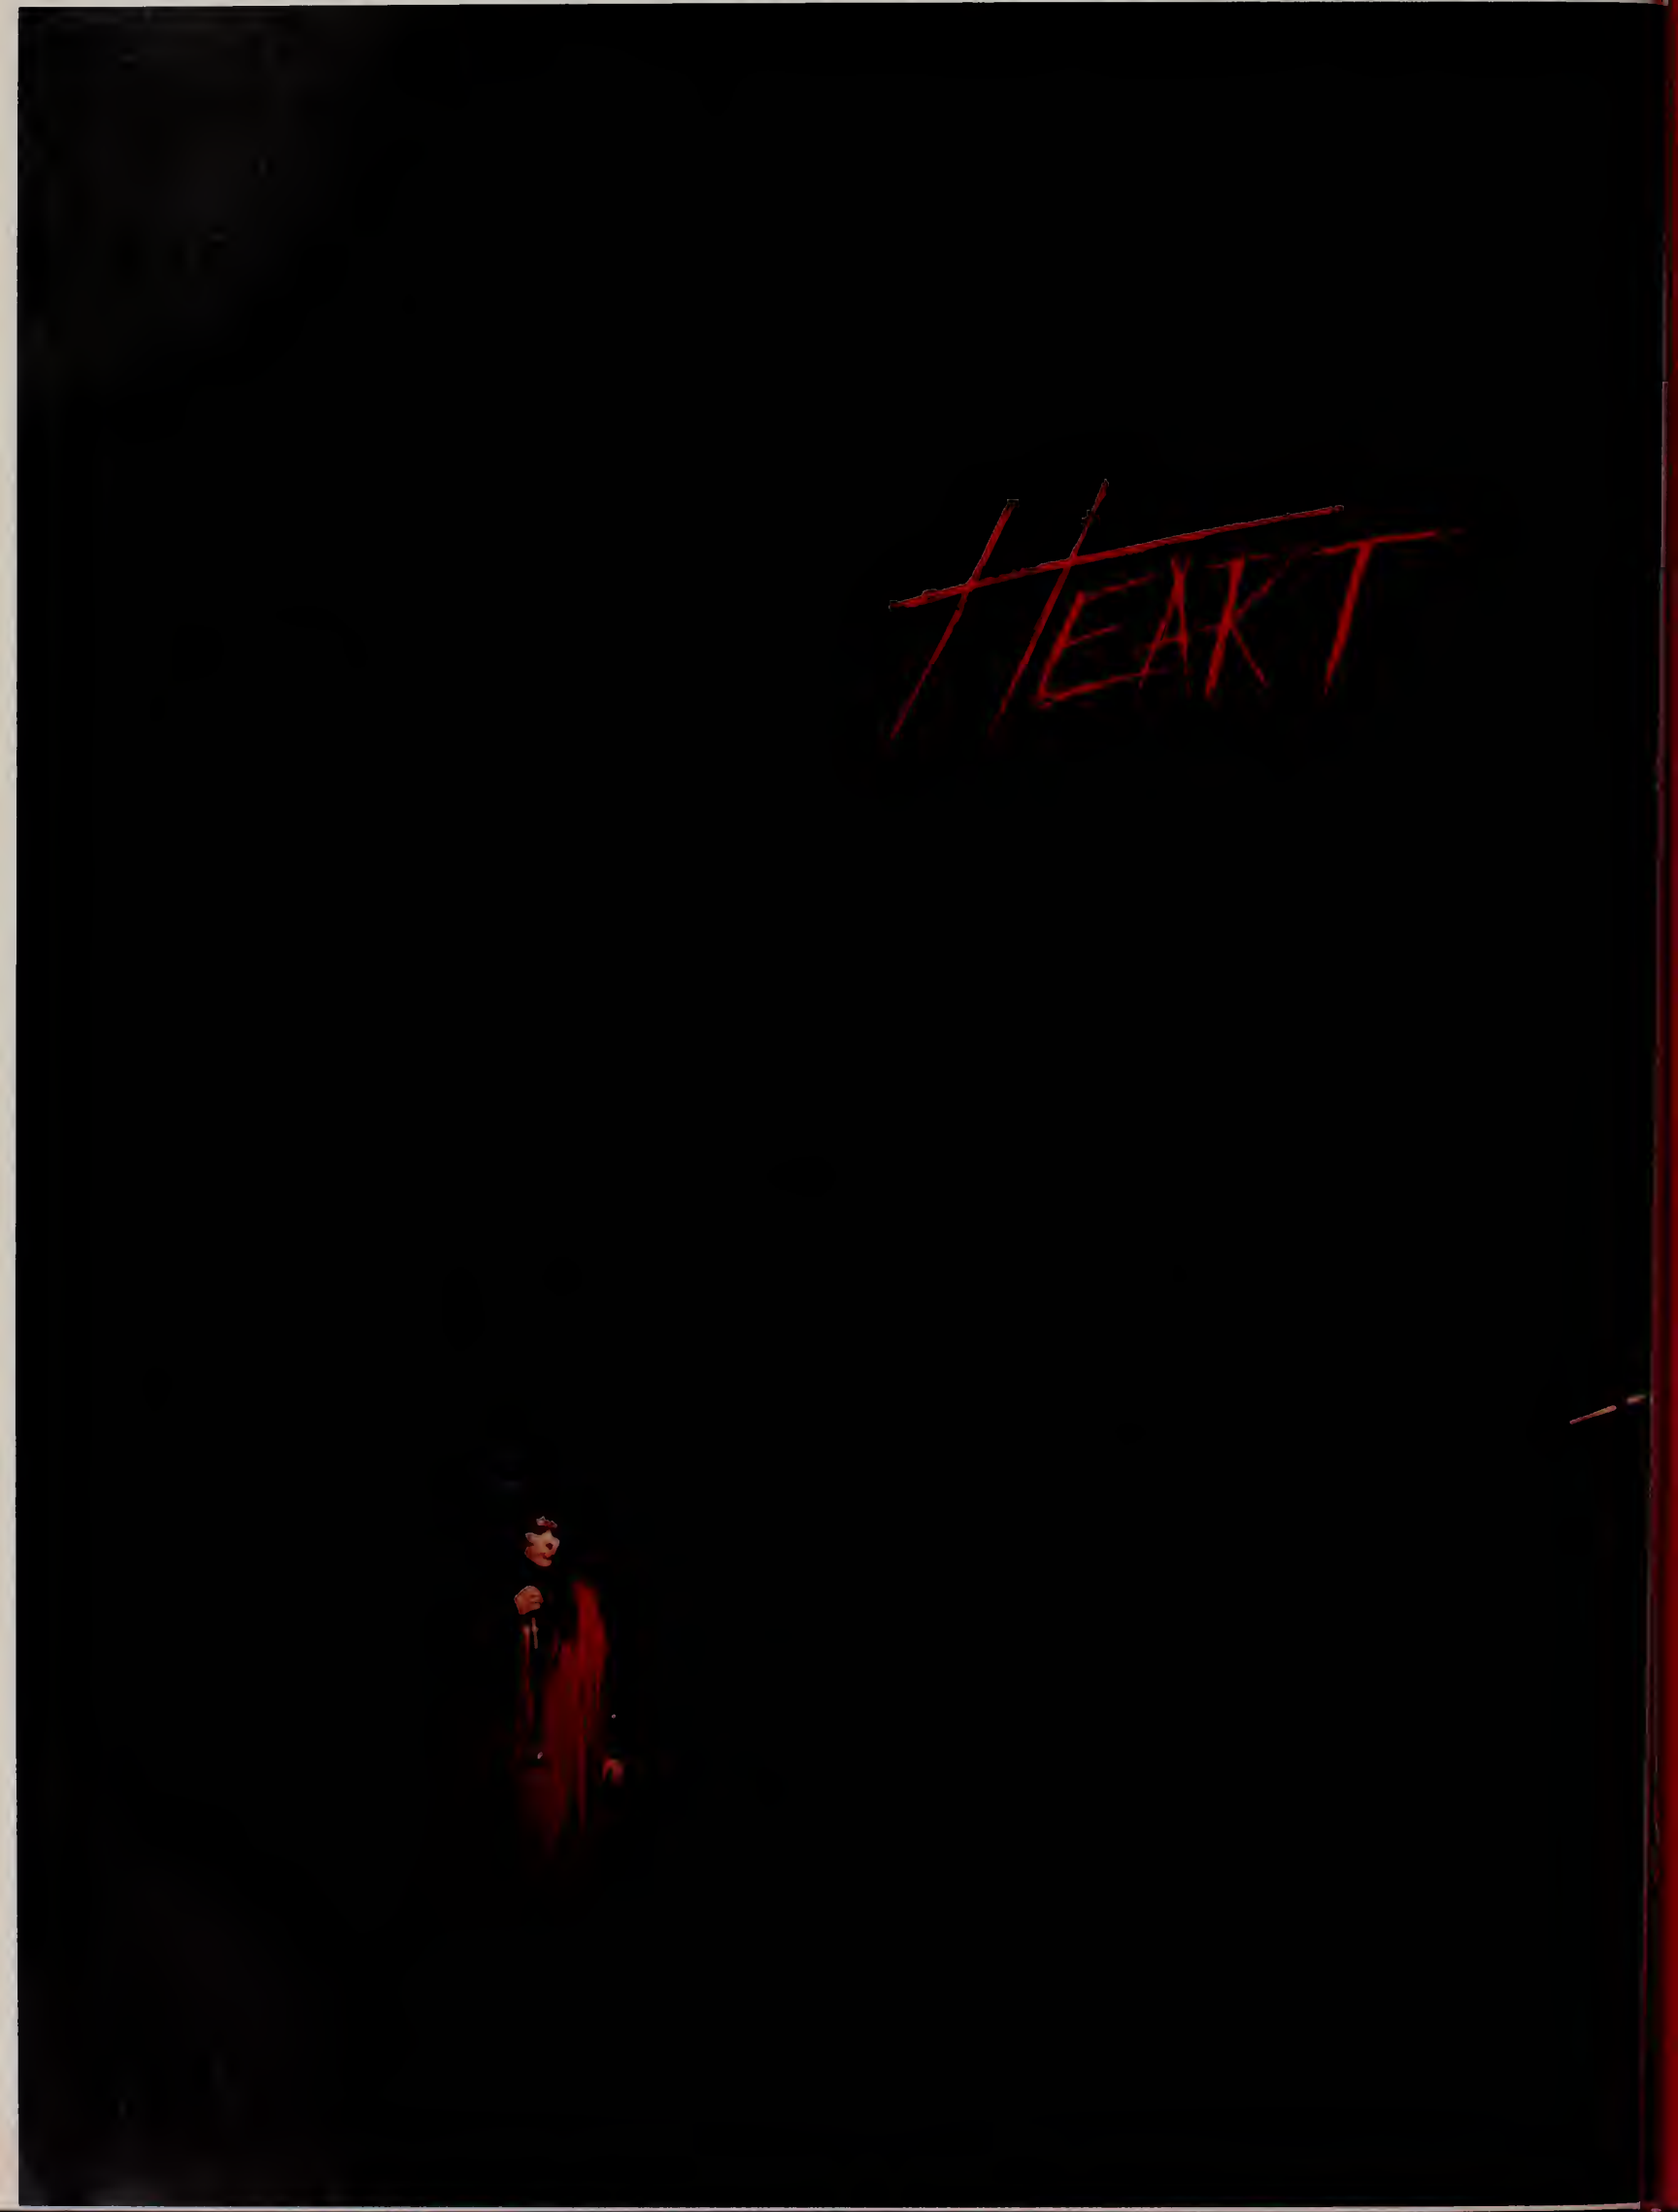
During Spring quarter, the TSU Department of Speech and Drama put on the final studio theatre production of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," a Jay Presson Allen drama as adapted by Murial Spark. The play was the final production to be presented in Kilby Hall and was directed by Dr. Judy Lewis.

The story, a drama done in retrospect, took place during the 1930's at a strict, private, all-girls' school in Edinbrugh, Scotland. The play was about an eccentric school teacher, Jean Brodie, and her influence over a group of young girls. Miss Brodie was a liberated woman in her "prime." She tried to mold her students in her own image. School officials tried to fire Brodie again and again because of her radical beliefs, but she always managed to stand up for herself and keep her job.

Throughout the play, one of Miss Brodie's prize pupils grew bitter toward her eccentric idealism and eventually snitched about Miss Brodie's affair with another teacher, Mr. Floyd, a man with whom she was also having a fling. The climax came when Miss Brodie lost her teaching position and agonized as she realized she was no longer in her "prime."



HEART

Heart, an older, rocking band of the 70's, took-on Troy State's audience with a spunky flare and with a feminine touch uncommon to rock-n-roll. Delighting long-time fans with favorites like "Magic Man" and "Barracuda," the Heart sisters, Ann and Nancy Wilson, along with their three-man band, left no doubt that time had not taken its toll. They charmed newer fans with more recent releases such as "What About Love," "These Dreams", and "Never." Opening for Heart in the Montgomery Civic Center on October 30, 1985 was the new wave band Mister Mister who's most recent and well-known hit was "Broken Wings".

Of Mice and Men, a drama created by the renowned John Stienbeck, is composed of characters who are compassionately real with a touch of tenderness and longing not always associatead with the typical primitive farmhand. The drama's two main characters, Lennie and George, are a mixmatched set of migratory laborers whose only link to one another is the mutual dream of owning their own land and settling down to a peaceful, stable life.

Lennie, a giant-like man with the heart of a little boy, is contented to idle the day away listening to tales of life on their future farm. He is not mindful of their actions which usually lead him and his companion, George, into trouble. George, being good-natured and intelligent, takes it upon himself to look after Lennie and keep him out of trouble whenever possible. As the drama continues, Lennie just could not seem to stay out of hot water, ultimately bringing the drama to its tragic end. This T.S.U. productioin was directed by Dr. David Dye, Chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama.

Crimes of the Heart

By Beth Henley

"Crimes of the Heart," by Beth Henley, winner of the Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critics Award in 1981, is a funhouse of accelerating, rollicking misfortune: a family drama combining love, incident and Southern Gothic humor. Set in Hazlehurst, Mississippi, "five years after Hurricane Camille," the story unfolds displaying a reunion of the three MaGrath sisters. They have come together because the youngest of them, Babe Botrelle, has just shot her big-wig husband in the stomach because, she says, "I didn't like his stinking looks." Her oldest sister, Lenny, is celebrating her thirthieth birthday and is slightly pathetic being a martyr to her "shrunken ovary" and being without romantic prospects. And Meg, the headstrong, rueful middle sibling, has come home after failing at a Hollywood singing career. Hovering over them all is the spirit of the dead mother, who hung herself in the basement and who, for a dash of drama, strung up her cat as well; all because "she had a bad day." The T.S.U. production was directed by Dr. Judith Lewis, Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama.

NIGHT RANGER

On their recent "Seven Wishes" tour, the all-American rock band, Night Ranger, performed their repertoire of hits. These included the ever popular "Rock in America" and older favorites, "Sister Christian" and "Sentimental Street." With their enthusiastic and patriotic style, this four-man band grasped the crowd's attention and made the February 27th concert a night to remember.

Night Ranger played a one-hour set, followed by two dynamic encores. The group finally left the stage, with the fans screaming for more, singing their recent smash hit "Goodbye." Their performance was preceeded by Joe Lyn Turner, who got the crowd rocking in preparation for Night Ranger. The winter quarter concert provided a good time and good music for Troy State's students and other area Night Ranger fans.

The American College Theatre Festival

Under the inspiration and direction of Irene Ryan, the American College Theatre Festival began some 18 years ago. From March 31 through April 12, 1986, the John F. Kennedy Center of Performing Arts hosted the eighteenth annual Festival at which collegiate dramatic productions from six different universities were performed.

Troy State University had the high honor of being chosen from among 587 productions to perform at the Kennedy Center. The play, under the direction of Dr. David Dye, was "Master Harold and the Boys." A highlight for TSU's drama department and for other cast members was the return of Andy Alsup, a Troy State alumnus, who assumed the role of Hally.

Along with the cast and crew of Master Harold, several Troy State drama students traveled to Washington, D.C. for the presentation. They were proud and honored to see their fellow colleague, Eric Ware, place first runner-up out of hundreds of nominees throughout the nation for the Irene Ryan Award.

Master Harold and the Boys

Cast of Characters

Hally	Andy Alsup
Sam	Eric Ware
Willie	Alex Johnson

The drama opens in Port Elizabeth, South Africa in 1950 with Master Harold, or Hally as he is better known, returning from school. Greeting his life-long friends and "second family," Willie and Sam, Hally immediately falls into recollections of the common memories they have shared. While he describes his lessons and life at school, they tell him of the daily happenings at his family-owned tea room. Life procedes as usual until Hally learns that his crippled, alcoholic father will soon be released from the hospital and will return home to disrupt the pleasant life he has been enjoying. With outrage at his mother for not preventing his father's release and with frustration about his inability to control the situation, Hally explodes, taking his anger out on Willie and Sam. At the play's anguishing climax, we see each characters emotional strain as the realities of place and time truly control their lives.

Neal Starling SGA President

The Student Gavernment Assaciatian's main goal was to increase student participation within the organization. As fall quarter began, the number af students running for elections increased dramatically campared with past years and vater turnaut almost doubled. Several non-elected positions helped highten student participation and increase the size of the SGA.

One af the majar gaals of President Starling and afficers set aut ta tackle was the parking problem on campus. After receiving suggestians fram students and senatars, the SGA put into motion the paving of the lat adjacent ta WTBF, a necessary and successful praject for the Student Gavernment. Other gaals included a Cammunity Relatians Committee, the acceptance af credit cards at the Bookstore, a Teacher's file at the library and a revised check-cashing policy. A recard number turned out for the annual Homecoming Skit Nite where the SGA gave away almost one thausand dallars in prizes and gift certificates. Even mare support was shawn when the 1985 Hamecoming Queen was crowned.

With many new ideas and the assertiveness to ga alang with them, the SGA was able ta serve the student bady in an efficient and beneficial manner.

Men's Residence

The Residence Hall Program at Troy State University plays an important roll in the lives of the on-campus residents. The members of the residence hall staff work to create a home-like atmosphere in the dormitories, while at the same time maintaining a sense of order.

Under the direction of Herbert Reeves, Coordinator of Men's Residence, students are selected for the positions of student directors, proctors, and assistant directors. Selection for staff positions is based on an application and interview process. Men interested are expected to maintain an appropriate grade point average and to promote the University and its functions.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national society which honors high scholastic achievement during the first year of college. The purpose of the organization as stated in the constitution is to encourage superior scholastic achievement among students in their first year in institutions of higher education, to continue a high standard of learning, and to assist men and women in recognizing and developing meaningful goals for their roles in society.

Alpha Lambda Delta meets monthly and one of its main projects is working with the Administration on the Honors Convocation Program.

Alpha Lambda Delta is also the only organization to sponsor the Outstanding Freshman Award for Honors Day. Selection is based on leadership abilities, activites, character, and academic standing.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership society, recognizes meritorious attainments in all-around leadership with a strong secondary membership requirement of scholarship. The society recognizes outstanding students, faculty and administration based on achievements in all areas of leadership at Honors Day held in Sorrell Chapel.

ODK officers are: Brock Davis, vice president elect; Derek Young, vice president; Tosha Spottek, president; and Jim Wyatt, president elect.

Gamma Beta Phi

Top: President Keith Henley welcomes a new initiate to Gamma Beta Phi. Center: These girls really have the Gamma Beta Phi spirit. Bottom: Angie Williams cooks for the ISCO/Gamma Beta Phi picnic.

The Gamma Beta Phi Society is an honor and service organization for students in colleges and universities throughout the United States. It is a non-secret, non-profit, and co-educational organization; and membership therein does not exclude a student from membership in any other organization.

The objectives of the Gamma Beta Phi Society are to recognize and encorage excellence in education through appropriate service projects. Some of the activities sponsored this past year were the "Coke Break" for registering students, the "Great American Picnic" for the international students at Troy State, a canned food drive for the needy at Thanksgiving, and an apple give-away to teachers on Teacher's Appreciation Day.

Gamma Beta Phi members prepare the food for their fall quarter picnic.

Phi Kappa Phi

Organized at the University of Maine in 1897 as a local honor society, Phi Kappa Phi became a national society in 1900, the first honor soceity to recognize superior scholarship in all fields of study.

The purposes of Phi Kappa Phi are to recognize, promote and honor scholarship and character; to honor students from all departments of American universties and colleges; and to bring together individuals of varied interests and professionals. The motto of the society summarizes its goal: "Let the love of learning rule mankind."

The Troy State University chapter was approved on August 18, 1971, becoming the second institution in Alabama to win affiliation with Phi Kappa Phi.

Election to membership in Phi Kappa Phi is the highest academic honor at TSU. Generally, initiates come from outstanding seniors who have a grade point average of at least 2.6. Juniors who are elected must have a minimum of 2.7, and graduate students are required to have at least a 2.8.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma is a national freshman honor society that recognizes students who have attained an overall grade point average of 3.5 during their first two quarters in college. With over 200 chapters nationwide, Phi Eta Sigma promotes campus scholarship by providing "Hints on How to Study" booklets to all incoming students during their Pre College Orientation. Members entering graduate or professional school may qualify for cash scholarships during their senior year.

The annual induction ceremony for new members was held May 15, 1986, in Sorrell Chapel. Thirty-one members were inducted and later recognized at the Honors Convocation on campus.

Phi Alpha Theta

The Iota Mu chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, an international honorary society in history, promotes historical study for students and faculty members.

Phi Alpha Theta's activities for the 1985-86 year have included three initiation dinners held at members houses and the annual regional convention which was held in Huntsville, Alabama. Their fund raiser was a raffle of dinners in various restaurants. Several speakers were featured at the meetings, including Virginia Durr.

Kappa Delta Pi

As stated in the Constitution and By-Laws Revision of 1978, the purpose of Kappa Delta Pi shall be to recognize outstanding contributions to education. To this end, Kappa Delta Pi shall invite to membership such persons who exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and sound scholarship, without regard to race, color, religion, and sex. Kappa Delta Pi shall endeavor to maintain a high degree of professional growth by honoring achievement in educational work. Only juniors, seniors, and graduate students in the upper one-fifth of the college academic rating are invited to membership.

The 1985-86 Theme was "Continuing the Quest for Excellence in Education." Some of the program topics were: "Continuing the Quest for Excellence in Education Through Multicutural Education," "A Look at Kappa Delta Pi," "Continuing the Quest for Excellence in Education Through Teacher In-Service," "A Film Presentation of the Second Annual Kappa Delta Pi and School of Education's Children's Festival."

Alpha Psi Omega

The purpose of the Alpha Psi Omega is to stimulate interest in theatre activities at Troy State University. It also secures for the University all the advantages and mutual helpfulness provided by a large national honorary fraternity. By electing students to membership, the organization provides a reward for their participation in the University's theatre performances.

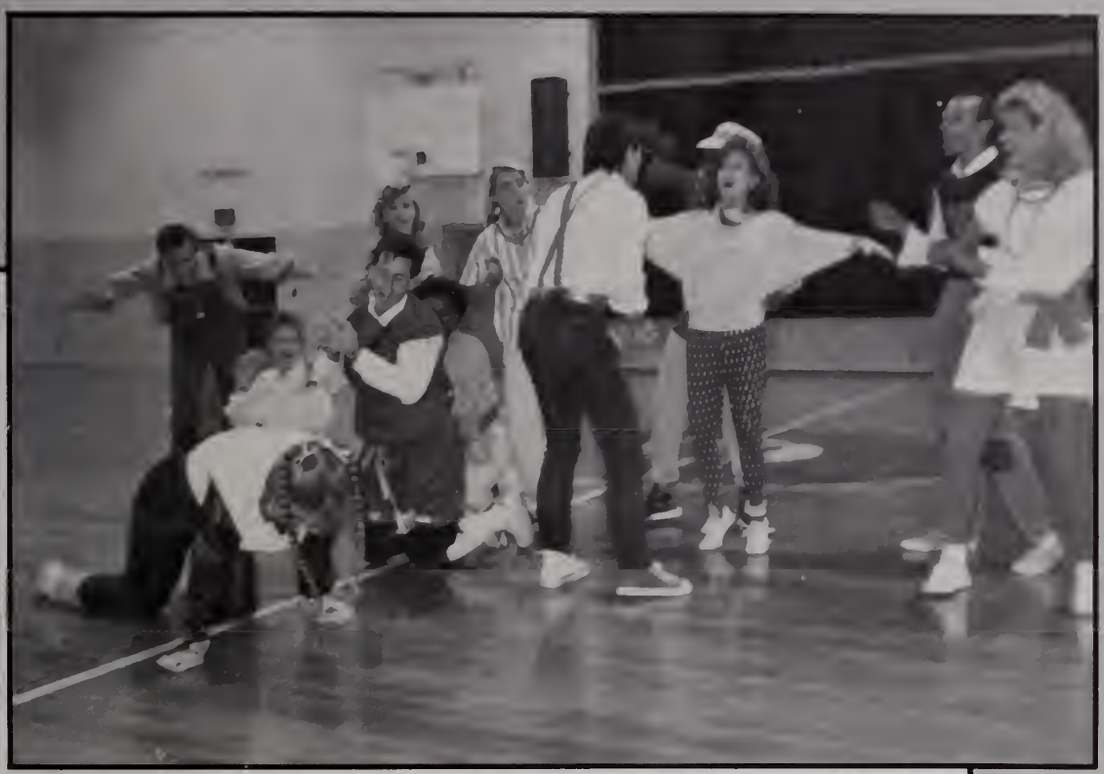
Pied Pipers



The Troy State University Pied Pipers have given children across the southeast their first taste of live theatre. The group was formed in order to provide additional performance opportunities to theatre students.

The ensemble, a group of theatre majors and minors, present children's stories without using settings or properties. Actors become walls, trees, or animals to create the setting. Since its organization, the group has performed for more than 100,000 youngsters in Alabama public schools and art and craft fairs.

The International Students Cultural Organization (ISCO) was established on the TSU campus in 1975. Its purpose is to promote brotherhood with foreign students attending the university.

It is the only social group that meets weekly through the summer term as well as during the full academic year. Programs were presented each Thursday night by students, faculty, staff members and visitors. Picnics, beach trips, homecoming and a Halloween party provided great enjoyment to the members and guests. The highlight of the spring quarter was the fifth annual ISCO International Festival, "Springfest." Foreign and American foods were served, followed by special entertainment presented by members of the organization. Funds to support ISCO recreation were obtained from a car wash, sale of cook books and valentine flowers, and the Springfest.

Membership in ISCO is open to all interested students, faculty, and staff.

Student Nurses Association

Any student accepted into the School of Nursing at Troy State is eligible to join the Student Nurses Association. This organization elects new officers from the junior class each fall quarter.

The junior nursing students were "capless" at the annual capping ceremony. The capping tradition was broken this year in order to modernize the nursing school; the majority of hospitals no longer require caps to be worn by their nurses.

The Alabama Association of Nursing Students (AANS) held its state convention in Birmingham February 13-15 in 1986. Three TSU nursing students attended the covention. The convention sponsored several focus sessions, many hospital exhibitions, a talent show, an auction, and a dance for the students. AANS raised three thousand dollars for the "Big Oak Boys Ranch."

Sigma Alpha Sigma is an organization designed for students who wish to work with people. It is a professional service organization located within the Department of Human Services. Members are primarily social workers, SRS, or rehabilitation majors, but any student who wishes to work in a service capacity is welcome. Sigma Alpha Sigma has been involved in many activities this year. They co-sponsored a "Trick or Food" event at Halloween to raise food for local agencies to help those in need. They also sponsored a family at Christmas through the Department of Pensions and Security through a financial donation. Money raising events have included a successful donut sale and raffling off a box of Valentine candy. This money is used to support charitable contributions to programs in the community as well as club activities.

The Student National Education Association is a professional organization for students in education. It provides the members with essentially the same benefits as the National Education Association members. It sponsors a variety of seminars that contribute to the growth of future educators. This organization also provides the students with insurance policies, discount purchasing programs, and educational savings bonds.

Beta Beta Beta

Beta Beta Beta Biological Society is a society for students, particularly for undergraduates. It emphasizes a three-fold program: stimulation of scholarship, dissemination of scientific knowledge and promotion of biological research. It seeks to encourage scholarly attainment in this field of learning by reserving its active membership for those who achieve superior academic records and those who indicate special aptitude for, and a major interest in the natural sciences. Beta Beta Beta endeavors to extend the boundaries of man's knowledge of nature by encouraging new discoveries through scientific investigation.

Pre-College Orientation Leaders

Each spring five males and five females are chosen as Pre-College Orientation Leaders. These students are selected by an application and interview process, and qualifications include knowledge of Troy State, ability to work well with others, involvement on campus, and a good rapport among students. The orientation leaders guide and assist prospective TSU students who come to one of the orientation sessions during the summer. The leaders give tours of campus, answer any questions about college life, and help students with their schedules. Overall, the ten selected are crucial in making incoming freshmen feel at home.

The $\sqrt{c}$ Math Club is an organization that promotes the study of mathematics amoung the students at Troy State University. Each quarter the club conducts several meetings that are designed to help the math student better understand the various areas of math and promote better teacher-student relations. Each spring quarter the club sponsors Math Week. The entire week is devoted to the idea of presenting math in ways that are both interesting and educational.

Arnold Air Society

Arnold Air Society had a very busy 1985-86 school year. Activities started during summer '85 with National POW/MIA Day. AAS held a ceremony at Troy's Bicentennial Park which included raising the official POW/MIA flag. During fall quarter, the squadron hosted the area Commander's Call and all the squadrons in Alabama and Mississippi converged at Troy State to discuss Arnold Air business and to party!

Another big Arnold Air project was the mini-museum. Focusing on uniforms and artifacts from WWI, WWII, Korea and Vietman, the museum also contains memorabelia from TSU faculty members who have served in the Armed Forces.

Throughout the year, the squadron devoted time and effort in assisting and entertaining Troy's senior citizens, particularly at the Pike Manor Nursing Home. This effort along with other Arnold Air activities resulted in the Dr. T.C. Marrs Squadron of Arnold Air Society being awarded the Chennault Trophy, which is given to the most outstanding squadron in the area.

Air Force ROTC

The mission of Air Force ROTC is to educate and commission officers for the United States Air Force. TSU's AFROTC program was established in September 1971. Since that time it has been constantly ranked as one of the best detachments in the country.

The ROTC curriculum includes classroom instruction and a weekly one hour leadership lab. ROTC encourages participation in all college activites with many cadets being involved in varsity sports, sorority and fraternity activities, religious organizations, and a host of other programs. The detachment has its own active social life including picnics, dinners, and frequent parties. The colmination of the year comes with the formal Military Ball held during Spring Quarter.

Two AFROTC programs are offered — a four year program or a two year program with both being offered to students attending Troy State. Students can compete for scholarship or a tax-free monthly stipend of one hundred dollars. TSU's ROTC cadets have a bright future of expertise, professionalism, and challenge. AIM HIGH!

Angel Flight

During 1985-86, The Angel Flight really lived up to its name for being a service organization. The members spent many hours working with the local Red Cross Blood Drive, sponsoring a March of Dimes Walkathon and helping the Arnold Air Society in its efforts to recognize POW/MIAs.

In addition to this hard work, the flight worked diligently to increase its membership. Only three actives came in the organization at the beginning of fall quarter, but the Angels persevered and by spring quarter Angel Flight had 18 members. This achievemnet, along with the flight's other good work, earned them the award, the Most Improved Flight in the nation.

ACUB

The 1985-86 Adams Center Union Board had a very exciting year. The many events provided by the ACUB included two major concerts; Heart at the Montgomery Civic Center, October 30, 1985 and Night Ranger at Garrett Coliseum in Montgomery, February 27, 1986. The Board hosted a Homecoming Bash in the Amphitheater as well as provided pool, ping pong, golf, and Trival Pursuit tournaments for students to test their skills. The ACUB was also proud to host the annual May Day festivities and brought the "Putting on the Hits" competition to TSU in which the winner went to the state-wide competition. And, like every year, the Board provided such movies as "Gremlins", "Ghostbusters", "The Breakfast Club", and "St. Elmo's Fire."

Trojan Ambassadors

The Trojan Ambassadors are the elite group of campus leaders who are chosen to serve as Troy State University's official hosts and hostesses.

Sponsored by the Admissions Office, the Ambassadors are seen at a variety of functions throughout the school year. They assist the Chancellor and First Lady at the Homecoming Reception; they serve as ushers for the Miss TSU Pageant and the University Dancers' Evening of Dance; and they escort distinguished guests during campus visits.

The most important activities of the Trojan Ambassadors are those directly related to student recruitment. The Ambassadors conduct campus tours for prospective students and their parents, assist admissions personnel at college days and career fairs, and are present at TSU's annual High School Day.

University Dancers

The Troy State University Dancers is a student directed, performing group consisting of people who love to dance. The dancers are selected at the beginning of each quarter by audition only. Upon selection, the dancers begin to prepare for their many community and school performances. The culmination of the year is an annual dance review.

This year the show entitled "Dance ... A Never Ending Story" was performed spring quarter in Smith Auditorium. Also on the dancers schedule were such events as entertaining at beauty pageants, pep rallies, basketball games, the Afro American Society's talent show, High School Day, the Children's Festival and a synchronized swim show among others.

Tropolitan

The "Troplitan", a student-university and community newspaper at Troy State University, seeks to inform the students, staff, faculty, and administration of campus events and issues. The newspaper also prints the views of students on campus.

The "Tropolitan" is a weekly newspaper, published each Thursday of fall, winter, and spring quarters, excluding dead week and the weeks of examinations.

All writing, editing, layout, paste-up, typesetting and selling of advertising is done by Troy State students. The "Tropolitan" provides practical experience for student journalists by giving them an introduction to news reporting, editing, photograhy and mechanical aspects of the newspaper.

Wesley believes that ministry must meet the needs of the whole individual. Therefore, programs were set up to provide a balance of social, physical, and spiritual activities. Wesley offers discipleship and Bible study, for example, to help grow spiritually. Wesley tries to provide opportunities for fellowship and fun with such activities as ski trips, retreats, Christian speakers, concerts, and other interesting events. It also provides opportunities to play various intramural sports such as volleyball, football, softball, and basketball. In addition, there are opportunities to use talents and abilities in ministry. The Wesley Singers performed in many churches throughout the state ,and out of state from time to time, during the school year.

Chi Alpha

Chi Alpha is a Christian outreach which is affiliated and supported by the Assemblies of God. Chi Alpha is an inter-denominational group, linked with 102 similar groups located on college campuses nationwide.

The Greek letters are "XA" which stands for "Christou Apostolio" ("Christ's sent ones"). They serve to convey the meaning of our organization.

Chi Alpha is committed to reaching out to students at secular universities with the good news of Jesus Christ. It strives to apply the principles He established for Christian Living based on a fourfold philosophy of evengelism, descipleship, worship, and fellowship.

Chi Alpha would like to invite anyone to become a part of the Christian faith and to get involved with a Christian fellowship for growth and stability of your Christian walk.

Gospel Choir

The TSU Gospel Choir is an organization open to all students who enjoy gospel music. The choir was organized with the belief that every good life stems from an inner peace. The members strive to bring this inner message, which is the Good News of God, to God's people through songs and praises. The Gospel Choir has grown to approximately sixty members during the 1985-86 year. The choir performs at various programs on the campus as well as performing at various churches throughout the Southeast. The campus adviser is Dr. Emma Norris. The 1985-86 school year officers were: Soyna Jennings, president; Rev. Micheal James, vice president; Brenda Wilson, secretary; Carolyn Taylor, asst. secretary; Sue Madison, treasurer; Venessa Kincey, asst. treasurer; Ken Spear, director; Alvin Tuck, asst. director; Kelvin Harris, public relations; Kelvin Pless, asst. director; and Angela Coleman, parlimentarian.

Collegiate Singers

The Troy State University Collegiate Singers are an active and talented group of students including music and non-music majors. The group is under the direction of Dr. William Denison, who is the assistant chairman of the music department.

The Collegiates perform at many special events throughout the year, including Honors Day and Homecoming. Each quarter the singers present a major concert, varying in types of music from spirituals to pop. During winter quarter, the Collegiates went on a tour throughout the southeast, performing in schools and churches in Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolinia.

Madrigal Singers

The Troy State University Madrigal Singers are a select group of students who combine the talents and skills of singing and dancing to entertain others. The talented ensemble is under the direction of Dr. William Denison, and acceptance into the group is by audition only. One of the highlights of the past year was the Christmas tour, including a performance at the governor's mansion. The Madrigal Singers, along with the Collegiate Singers, also perform at a major concert each quarter.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Kappa Kappa Psi is the National Honorary Band Fraternity serving marching bands and concert bands across the nation.

During fall quarter 1985, Kappa Kappa Psi provided many services for the marching band. The brothers were responsible for loading and unloading equipment for performances that were held away from Troy State. The brothers also provided water for the band members during breaks and Thursday night rehearsals.

During the Winter quarter the fraternity welcomed new members to the organization as well as elected new officers.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

Phi Mu Alpha Sinphonia is a national professional music fraternity for men. During fall quarter several brothers attended a workshop in Birmingham at Samford University as well as several parties given for prospective members. In winter quarter eight new brothers were initiated. During spring, the chapter held a car wash as a money-making project.

1985-86 marked the twenty-fifth anniversary at Troy State for the Iota Nu chapter. The chapter was selected as a "Net 20" award winner. This honor was awarded to outstanding chapters that showed a growth in membership.

Sigma Alpha Iota

Sigma Alpha Iota is as an international music fraternity for women, founded in 1903. Sigma Alpha Iota seeks to promote professional musicianship while building a strong sisterhood based on a common interest in the universal language of music. Activities during the year included a Valentines Day cookie sale, conducted by the chapter's pledges. During fall '85, the sisters had a balloon release called "Flying High with SAI." Pledge meetings and mixers with the musical brotherhood of Phi Mu Alpha made the 1985-86 school year a challenging and exciting time to be a sister in Sigma Alpha Iota.

THE SOUND'S IN TOWN

The Sound of the South Marching Band popped to attention enthusiastically as they were about to begin their carefully executed half-time program. The band consisted of people that were dedicated to keep the reputation of being the best of the South. Many students who only see the band during football season don't realize that the band performs year round.

The Troy State Band is under the experienced direction of Dr. John M. Long, who spends many long hours drilling band members and organizing band functions. Bryan Goss, the 1985-86 Drum Major, assisted Dr. Long by direction on the field and teaching band members the numerous different shows performed. The band also performed in the Peanut Festival in Dothan, Al., and cheered on the team at various basketball games in the form of pep bands. In April, the band was chosen to perform in a parade hosted in Atlanta, Ga. by the Coca Cola Co. The band members, when not marching, participated in other band functions such as concerts, tours, and on the lighter side — parties!

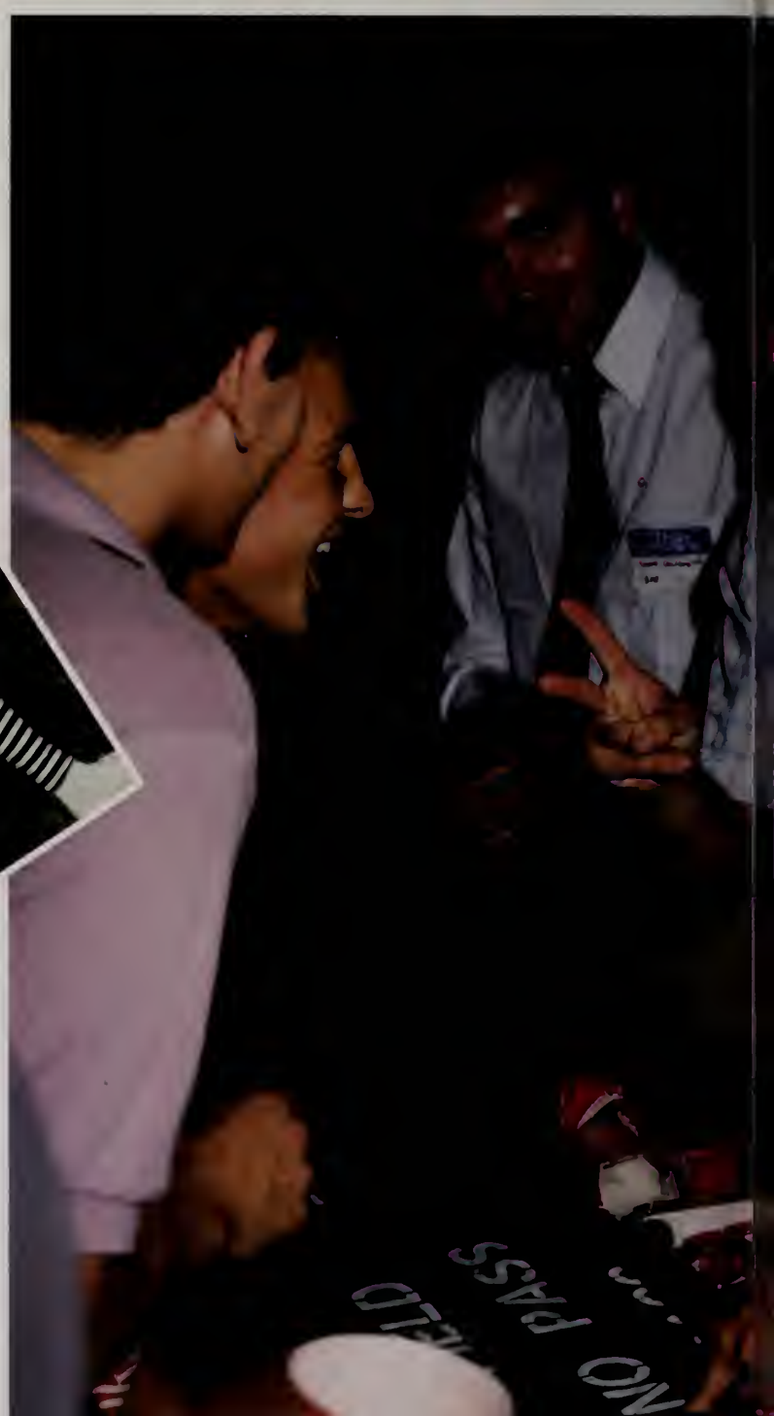
Rush



Above & Opposite Page: Sororities create entertaining and informative skits to better familiarize rushees about Greek life in general and their sorority in particular.

This Page: Fraternities attract interested men to their houses by hosting themed parties such as "Casino Night" and by promises of homemade goodies and other refreshments.

WHY SHOULD I GO GREEK? When referring to a college student as a Greek, you are saying that he or she is a member of a recognized social fraternity or sorority. To become "Greek" is one of the biggest and most important decisions a college student can make. In that many of the T.S.U. students are involved in the Greek system, it is apparent that "Going Greek" is a popular and agreeable choice.

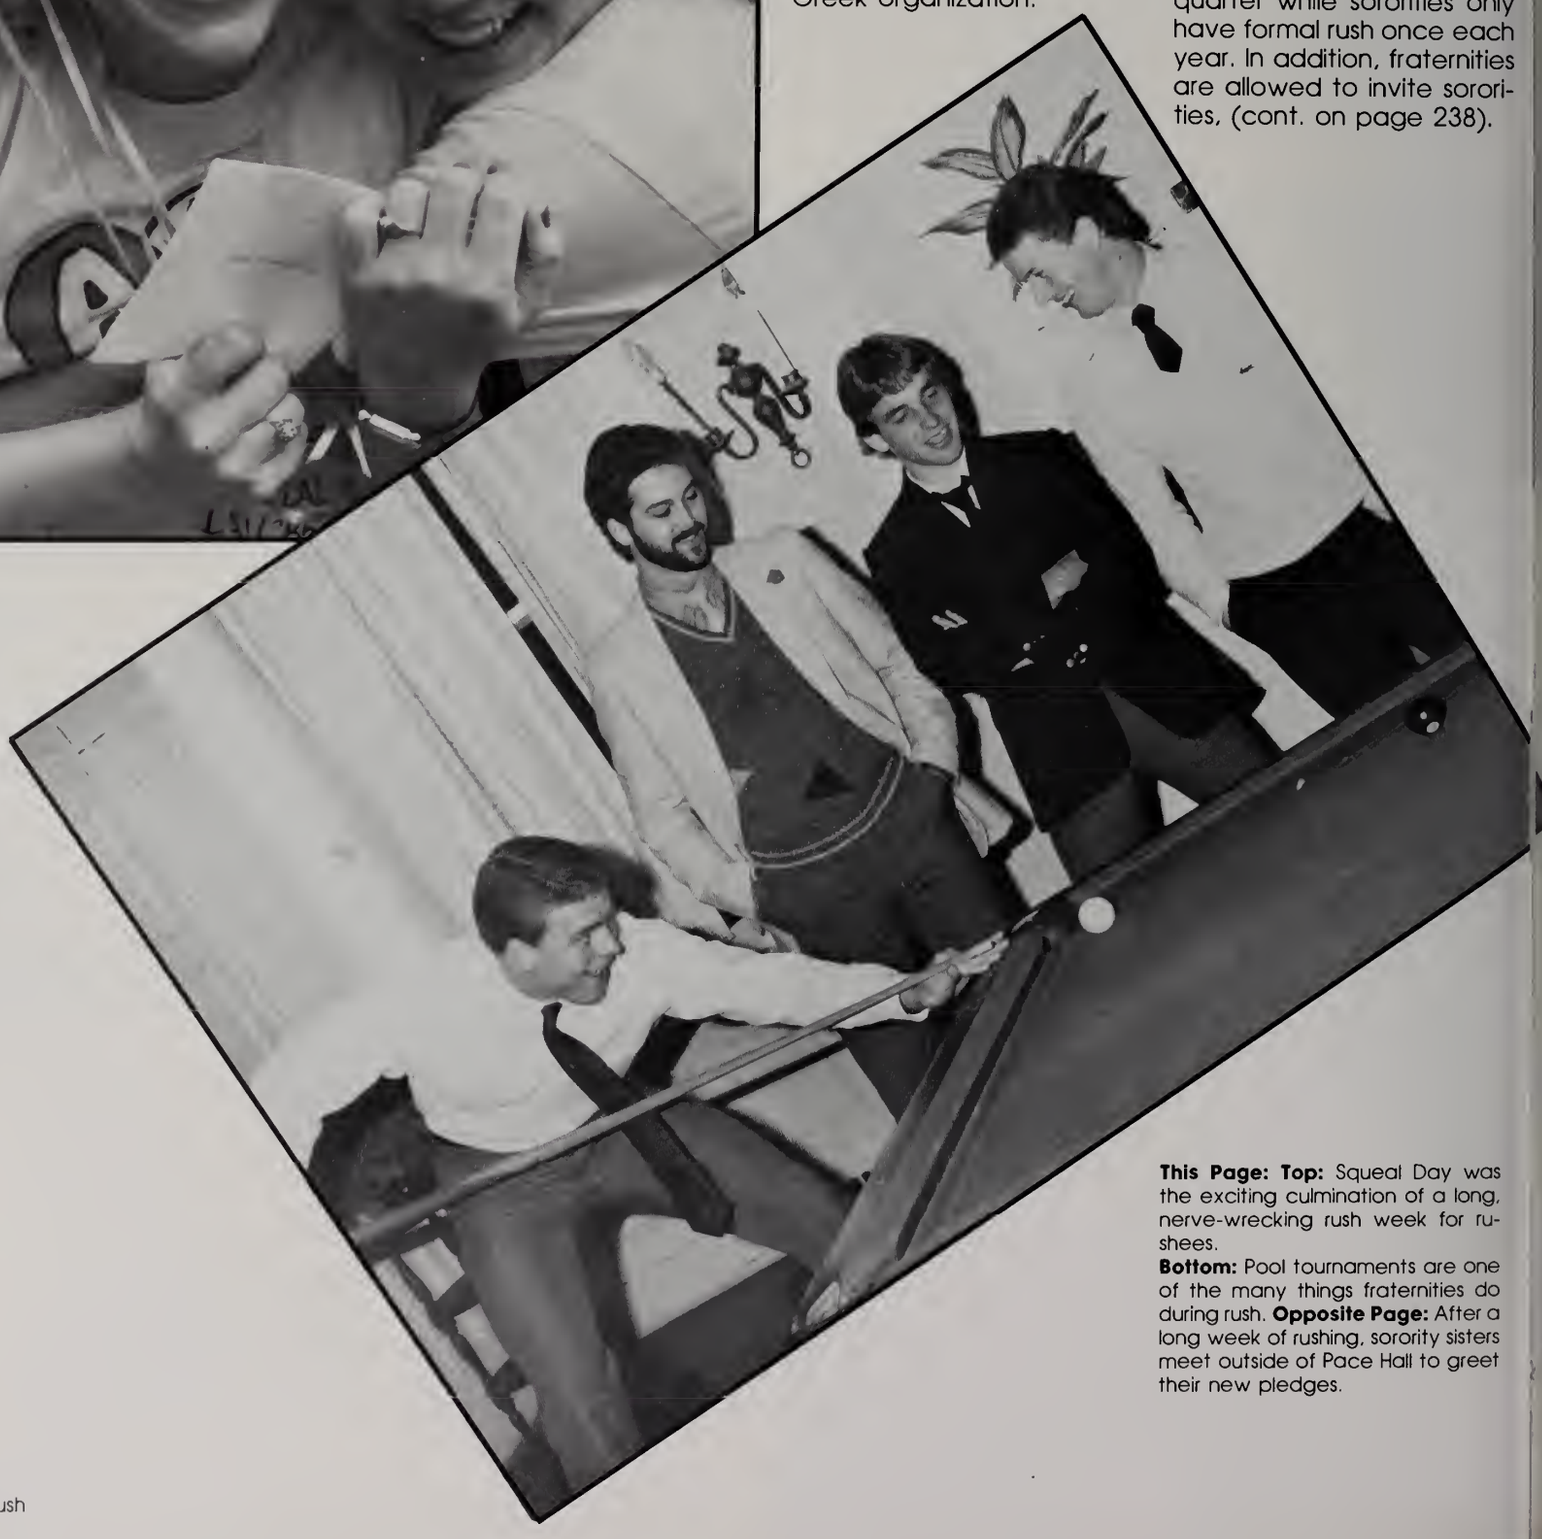
For someone who is totally ignorant of Greek terminology, Rush sounds odd . . . almost like a headache or nervous condition. Likewise, for someone involved in the Greek system, Rush is odd and does induce headaches and nervous conditions. It is extraordinarily hard to talk to a complete stranger about brotherhood and sisterhood when that person is staring back at you with a huge "?" on his or her face. Consequently, Greeks will relate fraternity and sorority events through which their brotherly and sisterly feelings grow. Unfortunately, this sometimes give independents the wrong concept of Greek life.

Greeks will not deny that parties are a part of what they share, but they will also tell you about their philanthropy projects, sharetimes, intramural teams, and so much more. To truly appreciate the Greek system, you must look at it as a whole. Being that so many T.S.U. students are involved, there has got to be something to it, so . . . GO GREEK!!

How can I go Greek?

To pledge or associate with a fraternity or sorority, students must have a "C" average or better. Men are asked to sign a buckley, a grade release form and hazing policy. Women sign a similar form when they submit their rush application forms for Formal Rush fall quarter or when they are notified by Panhellenic that one of the sororities is interested in giving them an open bid. After the University has verified that you pass the minimum grade requirements, you are free to accept or regret bids from a Greek organization.

Though it sounds relatively simple, rush is more complex than all that, especially for the Greeks. Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic govern all fraternity and sorority rush activities. Any actions which violate University rush policies could keep a fraternity or sorority from participating in rush. This is why Greeks take rush so seriously, for it is through rush and the affiliation of new members that fraternities and sororities continue to grow. Fraternity rush is less structured than sorority rush in that fraternities have a formal rush week each quarter while sororities only have formal rush once each year. In addition, fraternities are allowed to invite sororities, (cont. on page 238).



This Page: Top: Squeal Day was the exciting culmination of a long, nerve-wrecking rush week for rushees.

GREEK TERMINOLOGY

ACCEPT — When a female rushee accepts a sorority's invitation to return to another rush party.

BUCKLEY — Grade release form which men must sign before a fraternity may offer them a bid.

FORMAL RUSH — Time set aside by I.F.C. and Panhellenic during which fraternities and sororities are allowed to host rush parties within the limitations set by the University.

I.F.C. — Interfraternity Council; Fraternities' governing body which is composed of members from each recognized fraternity on campus.

INDEPENDENT — Someone who is not a member, pledge, or affiliate of a Greek social organization.

INITIATION — Time set aside by each individual fraternity and sorority during which pledges and associates who are eligible are acquainted with the secret, special rituals of his/her fraternity/sorority

OPEN BID — Invitation of membership given by a sorority after Formal Rush has concluded.

PANHELLENIC — Sororities official governing body which is composed of members of each recognized sorority on campus.

PLEDGE — Someone who has accepted a bid and who is working toward his/her initiation.

What should I expect from Rush? Whether you decide to pledge or not, expect to meet a lot of nice people who are truly happy to invite you into their chapter rooms or houses. Also plan on having fun and being entertained while you are there. Fraternities and sororities like to give shows to leave an impression with people who visit their "home." One of the most recent trends is air-band competition which bring out people's hidden talents and dreams of stardom.

Do not go into rush with the idea that it will be easy for you or easy for the Greeks. Many times a Greek will have their heart set on a prospective pledge, but he/she will regret the bid or even pledge a different group. It takes time to get to know your new brothers and sisters, so don't expect it all to happen at once. Whatever you do, once you pledge, you will find that Greek life and all the hassels of rush are well worth it. There's nothing like being a Greek.

This Page: While fraternity rush is less structured and open to new ideas such as air-band competition, sorority rush follows a more rigid, planned schedule. Opposite Page: Barbecues and other cook-outs give fraternity men and women the chance to get some good, home-cooked meals and some friendly conversation.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi was founded 1851 at Wesleyan Women's College in Macon, Georgia. It was the first sorority and is the mother of the Greek system as we know it today.

The sisters and pledges of the Epsilon Kappa chapter of ADPi participates in many different activities beginning with rush in the fall. Fall also includes pledge swaps, socials, TSU football games, and intramural volleyball. Winter quarter is full of such things as the initiation of our new sisters, our fund-raising project to support the Ronald McDonald Houses of America, intramural basketball, and dinners for our sisters, pledges and big brothers. Perhaps the most enjoyable time is spring quarter when we occupy "Pace Beach" in an effort to get ahead on our savage tans. Spring also means Derby Week, Greek Week, softball, and beach parties.

Alpha Gamma Delta

The Gamma Sigma chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta showed their spirit, strength, and sisterhood in an exciting year, marking their 14th year on TSU's campus.

Beginning the year with an outstanding rush, the Alpha Gam's fall quarter was highlighted by winning SPK for the sixth consecutive year, placing second in sorority volleyball, and having Laura Benefield crowned Miss Fall Rush. Winter quarter proved just as eventful as the Alpha Gams' Amanda Ober was chosen Miss TSU and as the group's basketball team won the intramural championship.

Culminating the year was their first annual "Dash for a Cure," through which they raised over $2,800 for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. The AGDs studied as hard as they played, winning them the scholarship tropy for the second consecutive year.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. was founded January, 1908 at Howard University, Washington, D.C.

It is the oldest Greek-letter sorority founded by black women. In a period of 78 years, AKA has grown to well over 85,000 initiated members.

The Mu Alpha chapter of AKA was founded at TSU in 1978. Since then, the soros have strived to maintain academic excellence and high ethical standards.

The AKA women participate in many campus organizations and community activities.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega has become the fastest growing fraternity on campus. In their years of existence, they have achieved many goals and are on their way to attaining many more.

Chi Omega is comprised of well rounded women, all of whom are active in several campus organizations such as Mortar Board, ACUB, SGA, and University Dancers. They are very proud to have the Panhellenic president for the upcoming year. Successes for 1985-86 included placing third in Sigma Chi Derby Week, having Tammy Ford chosen as Delta Chi Calendar Cover Girl and Derby Darling and Pam Williams chosen as fourth runner-up in Miss TSU, and winning the scholarship trophy winter quarter.

Chi Omega stresses excellence and campus involvement, but most of all, they stress individualism.

Delta Sigma Theta

In 1978, the Nu Theta chapter of Delta Sigma Theta was founded. Since that time, DST women have been a motivating force on campus in their endeavors to uphold the ideals for which they are nationally known. They have organized many functions that are service oriented and socially geared toward the campus and community.

Nu Theta is noted for its nursing home visits and child tutoring services. Other events during the year include participation in Greek Week, Miss TSU, Greek shows and dances, and their traditional Delta Week. During Delta Week 1986, the DST women presented a scholarship to a deserving young lady from Charles Henderson High School.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta's motto, "Let us strive for that which is Honorable, Beautiful, and Highest," was exemplified during the 1985-86 year. KD ladies were involved in numerous campus activities ranging from Mortar Board to cheerleading to collegiate sports.

Highlights for the year included two sisters being chosen to the Homecoming Court, two placing as finalists in Miss Venus and one being selected as 2nd runner-up to Miss TSU. The KD ladies excelled in athletics, winning the sorority volleyball championship and the Greek Week trophy. Keeping their grades in mind, they were proud to win the scholarship trophy Fall quarter.

With a diverse group of ladies, each expounding her ideals and interests, the KD's were able to strengthen their bond of sisterhood.

Phi Mu

The Kappa Gamma chapter of Phi Mu began an eventful year by pledging quota during fall rush. The excitement of fall quarter was captivated by the annual teeter-totter to raise money for Project HOPE. The Phi Mu's also had a commemoration banquet celebrating 20 successful years on campus.

Members were involved in organizations such as Mortar Board, SGA, University Dancers, and cheerleading. Their various activities make the sorority a diversified group of hard-working individuals. Phi Mu's sponsored girls in Miss TSU, Miss Venus, and several other contests. Many of the sisters are also honored as fraternity little sisters and sweethearts. While also participating in Derby Week and Greek Week, Phi Mu's year was filled with fun.

Zeta Phi Beta

Zeta Phi Beta was organized on January 16, 1920 at Howard University and since has increased its numbers to more than 300 undergraduate chapters. Its members posses the strength and means to contribute to the encouragement of higher scholarship and to those groups striving for the betterment of communities and the world.

The membership of Zeta Phi Beta includes women in the professions of medicine, law, dentistry, invention, the fine arts, teaching and many other fields of higher learning. Zeta Phi Beta women have played an important role in world, national, state and local affairs. They have taken a firm stand for the rights protection of minority groups. In addition, the sorority has traditionally entended aid to the needy through relief work, voluntary services, and organized charities. Granting scholarships and fellowships to deserving women students furthers the sorority's attempts to promote higher education.

Interfrater... Cou...

The Interfraternity Council, (I.F.C.), is the governing body for all fraternities. The group is composed of representatives of each of the T.S.U. fraternities and strives to promote unity throughout the Greek system.

During the 1985-86 school year, I.F.C. worked diligently to harmonize the efforts of all fraternities to better promote Greek life. This was illustrated in the council's organization of Greek Week. As John Erdosey, Vice President of I.F.C. indicated, "We wanted Greek Week to promote fun rather than rivlary." This was demonstrated as all fraternity men, combined with sorority women, jointly planned a "big name" band to perform in concert as a finale to Greek Week.

Panhellenic

Panhellenic Council is the governing body for Troy State's sororities and serves as a memeber of the National Panhellenic Council which promotes the ideals of Greek women throughout the United States and Canada. Formed in 1967, Troy State's council promotes sorority leadership, scholarship, and community service while continually stressing unity among Greek women and throughout the Greek system.

Panhellenic began meeting monthly with I.F.C. during the 1985-86 school year to better facilitate their goal of unity. Together, the two councils planned Greek Week, Rush, and other Greek related events. By coorelating the calenders of the fraternities and sororities, the Greek system as a whole was better supported and organized.

Delta Chi

Troy State chapter of Delta Chi fraternity experienced a successful year by continuing the tradition and ideals that have been with its chapter for the past 20 years. Fall quarter was triumphant as the DC's placed well overall in intramural football, obtained an energetic pledge class, and collected thirteen beautiful girls for the Delta Chi Calender, with their very own Tammy Ford being chosen as Cover Girl.

The rest of the year was a blast, as the DC's traveled to Sugar Mt., NC, for their annual winter ski trip and to Panama City, FL, for their annual spring beach party. Spring was further enhanced by the Delta Chi Traditional Gala at the Troy Country Club, which celebrated the fraternity's 20th anniversary at TSU. Laua capped off the DC's successful year by offering an entire spring weekend of good food and good friends.

Kappa Alpha Psi

The Theta Phi chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi was chartered on November 27, 1976 at TSU. The charter line consisted of twenty members. From that original twenty, the chapter has initiated over seventy brothers.

The Theta Phi chapter works in the community as well as on campus. Some of the projects include yard cleanup for the elderly, Adopt-a-child for a day, raising money for OCAP and their annual Spring Greek Show.

Over the years, the brothers who have pledged Kappa Alpha Psi have come from varied aspects of life for one common purpose: to strive in brotherhood to maintain in their hearts and lives the true meaning of Phi Nu Pi.

Lambda Chi Alpha

The Sigma Tau chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha has had a very active year. Activities featured the Fall quarter Air Band party, the annual Sorority President Kidnap, and their spring Polynesian party. The men of Lambda Chi raised money to support the Pike County Pensions Board and donated their extra time to the local kids at the Baptist Children's Home.

Lambda Chi's individualism is reflected in the various activities its members pursue. These include SGA, DPMA, Pied Pipers, Campus Outreach, ROTCH, TSU Band, Gamma Beta Phi, and both collegiate and intramural sports. They are proud to have as their advisers such distinguished TSU personalities as Chancellor Ralph W. Adams, Dr. Forest Petry, and Dr. James Kimbrough.

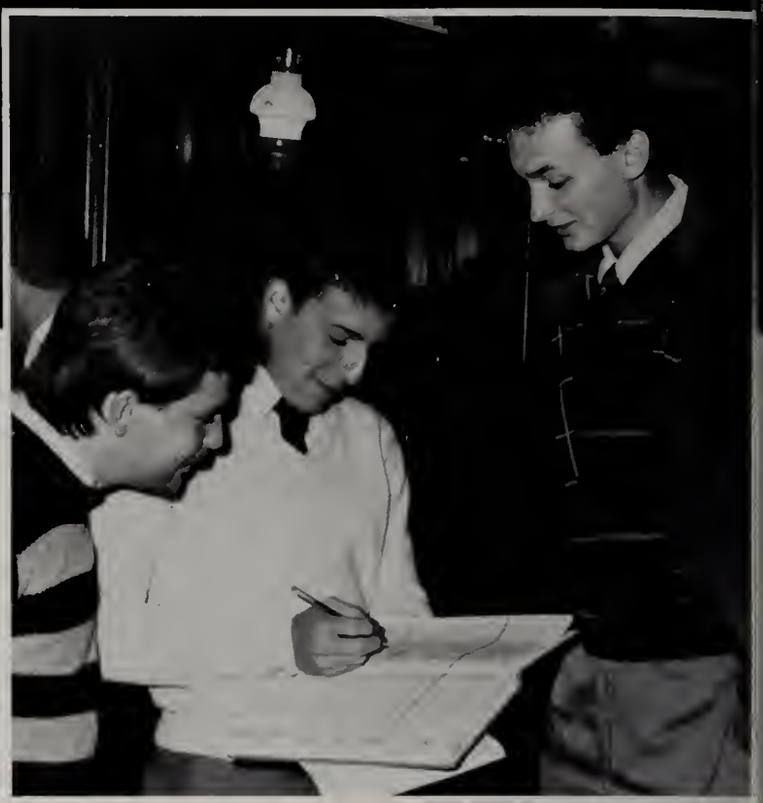
Pi Kappa Phi



The Gamma Gamma chapter of Pi Kappa Phi celebrated its 20th anniversary at TSU with a dynamic year. At their annual Rose Banquet, the National Executive Director Durward Owen congratulated the Pi Kapps on their incredible history. Senior Terry Tase was named brother-of-the-year while Julie Saunders was recognized as the new Rose.

Other events for the year included Beach Party in Panama City and their traditional Jungle Party, both of which provided lots of fun for brothers, alumni and guests. The brotherhood was excited to host another successful Bunny Contest for Project P.U.S.H.

A highlight for the Gamma Gamma's was being the first Pi Kappa Phi chapter to initate 500 brothers in 20 years. They received the Master Chapter Award in recognition of this accomplishment.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The Alabama Epsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon had an outstanding school year, as the SAE men placed first in every intramural sport for a triumphant win of the All-Sports Trophy.
The E's had an exciting fall quarter, hosting their annual Sexy Legs contest and winning the off-campus and overall Homecoming lawn display competition. Spring was fun as SAE brothers, pledges, and guests enjoyed "Magnolia Week."

The national fraternity celebrated its 130th year and its history of 200,000 initiated members. In Troy, the E's enjoyed their sixth year at TSU and initiated their 150th brother. SAE members showed their strength in campus activities as they had brothers who were involved in SGA, Campus Outreach, collegiate singers and TSU dramatic productions, just to name a few. In this and many other ways, the SAE's showed their strength and unity.

Sigma Chi

During the past year, Eta Phi Chapter of Sigma Chi has continued in its pursuit of excellence. At the Leadership Training Workshop in August, the chapter was awarded two of the Fraternity's most prestigious honors — the Peterson Significant Chapter Award for overall excellence and the Legion of Honor Award for scholastic achievement.

Locally, the Sigma Chi brothers have been honored with induction into Mortar Board, Who's Who, Omicron Delta Kappa and Trojan Ambassadors. Outstanding rush functions have yielded fine scholars, athletes, and artists — combining to promote diversity and individuality.

With such campus leaders as the SGA president, the yearbook editor and Greek of the Year, Sigma Chi has enjoyed a banner year.

Sigma Pi

The Delta Psi chapter of Sigma Pi fraternity prided itself in dedication, sincerity and personal integrity as the entire brotherhood strived to achieve its goals for the 85-86 school year. The brothers and little sisters provided continual support and enthusiasm for the TSU Greek system by participating in rush, intramurals, and Greek Week. In addition, the Sigma Pi's were actively involved in campus organizations.

Traditions played a major role with the Sigma Pi's as they welcomed parents, guests, and alumni to the house for the fall quarter Homecoming festivities and as they hosted their annual winter quarter Orchid Ball. Spring proved to be successful with their annual sorority powder puff football competiton providing the means to raise money for their philanthropy project.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon has established a tradition of excellence in the areas of leadership, activities, and scholarship.

TKE has consistantly maintained a remarkable grade point average, as the fraternity holds the record for the highest scholastic average achieved in the TSU fraternity system. In addition, the TKE's are proud of their brother, Kenton Odoms, who was elected SGA President for the 86-87 school year. They pride themselves not only for their successes in academic and campus involvement, but also for their support in the betterment of the TSU Greek system.

Mr. Merrill Bankester, Dean of Hall School of Journalism, took the position of Interfraternity Council (IFC) adviser in the Fall of 1986. Prior to this, he had served as faculty adviser to Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, a group in which he became a member upon their chartering at TSU.

As IFC adviser, Mr. Bankester's primary objective is to establish harmony and group effort among the fraternities and sororities. He feels that they should strive to promote the Greek system as a whole. This is a goal which the IFC officers share and which they have further extended to the Panhellenic Council officers.

TSU adopted an additional non-alcohol policy immediately following Fall Rush which imposed strict limitations on the Greek system. Initially, fraternity men grumbled over the changes; however, Mr. Bankester feels that, with time, the Greeks will grow to be more responsive and more aware of the benefits the new policy offers the system.

Mrs. Helen Leverette accepted the position as Panhellenic adviser midway through fall quarter. Prior to this, she served as faculty adivser to Chi Omega sorority. She was intiated into the group as an alumnae member, for, as an undergraduate, she attended TSU when there were no sororities on campus.

Though she enjoyed working with her sorority individually, Mrs. Leverette indicated that Panhellenic has given her the opportunity to meet more of the students at Troy, not only Greek women, but also Greek men, as IFC and Panhellenic began meeting monthly to correlate Greek activities.

The Fall Quarter of 1986, Mrs. Leverette will participate in Formal Rush as Panhellenic adviser. She is looking forward to this opportunity and to working with the sorority women during Rush. Having worked with pre-college orientation in the past, she seems to be open-minded about dealing with 200 potential Greeks.

Greek Week

Greek Week has become a traditional part of Spring quarter at Troy State. As in all other Greek systems, it is held in the spirit of the Olympian games of ancient Greece. In their days, the Greeks strived to achieve excellence in all aspects of their lives. This remains true for the Greeks of Troy State ... excellence in scholarship, athletics, and parties, all of which they give 100%. The "party" was added to Greek Week for the first time in 1986, as TSU Greeks all chipped in out of their tight, collegiate budgets and financed the band "Harlequin" which performed at the armory on the last night of Greek Week.

The events of Greek Week varied from the ultra-serious and ultra-extracting tug-of-war to the ever funny mud volleyball. Organized by a panel representative of each fraternity and sorority, Greek Week's 1986 goal was not only to provide competitive, fun events, but also to bring the Greeks together as a united body, encouraging and supporting each member and organization within the Greek system.

Miss Venus

The Miss Venus pageant is an annual event which serves as a precursor to the bulk of the Greek Week events. Sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, the pageant is not considered part of the competitive games; therefore, no points are awarded to the sponsors of the contestant chosen as Miss Venus To encourage support, participation points are given to the fraternities and sororities who have the highest percentage of their membership present at the pageant Contestants are judged on poise, grace, beauty and personality Since Miss Venus reigns over all the activities of Greek Week, contestants must be a member of a sorority to participate in the pageant

The 1986 Miss Venus, Carrie Clikas, was sponsored by her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta The remaining Top Five were first runner-up Laura Benefield, second runner-up Jimma Lawson, Missy Phelps and Chris Reeves Included in the top ten semi-finalists were Julie Brown, Darlene Garner, Stephanie Medley, Pam Williams, and Susan Wyncoop.

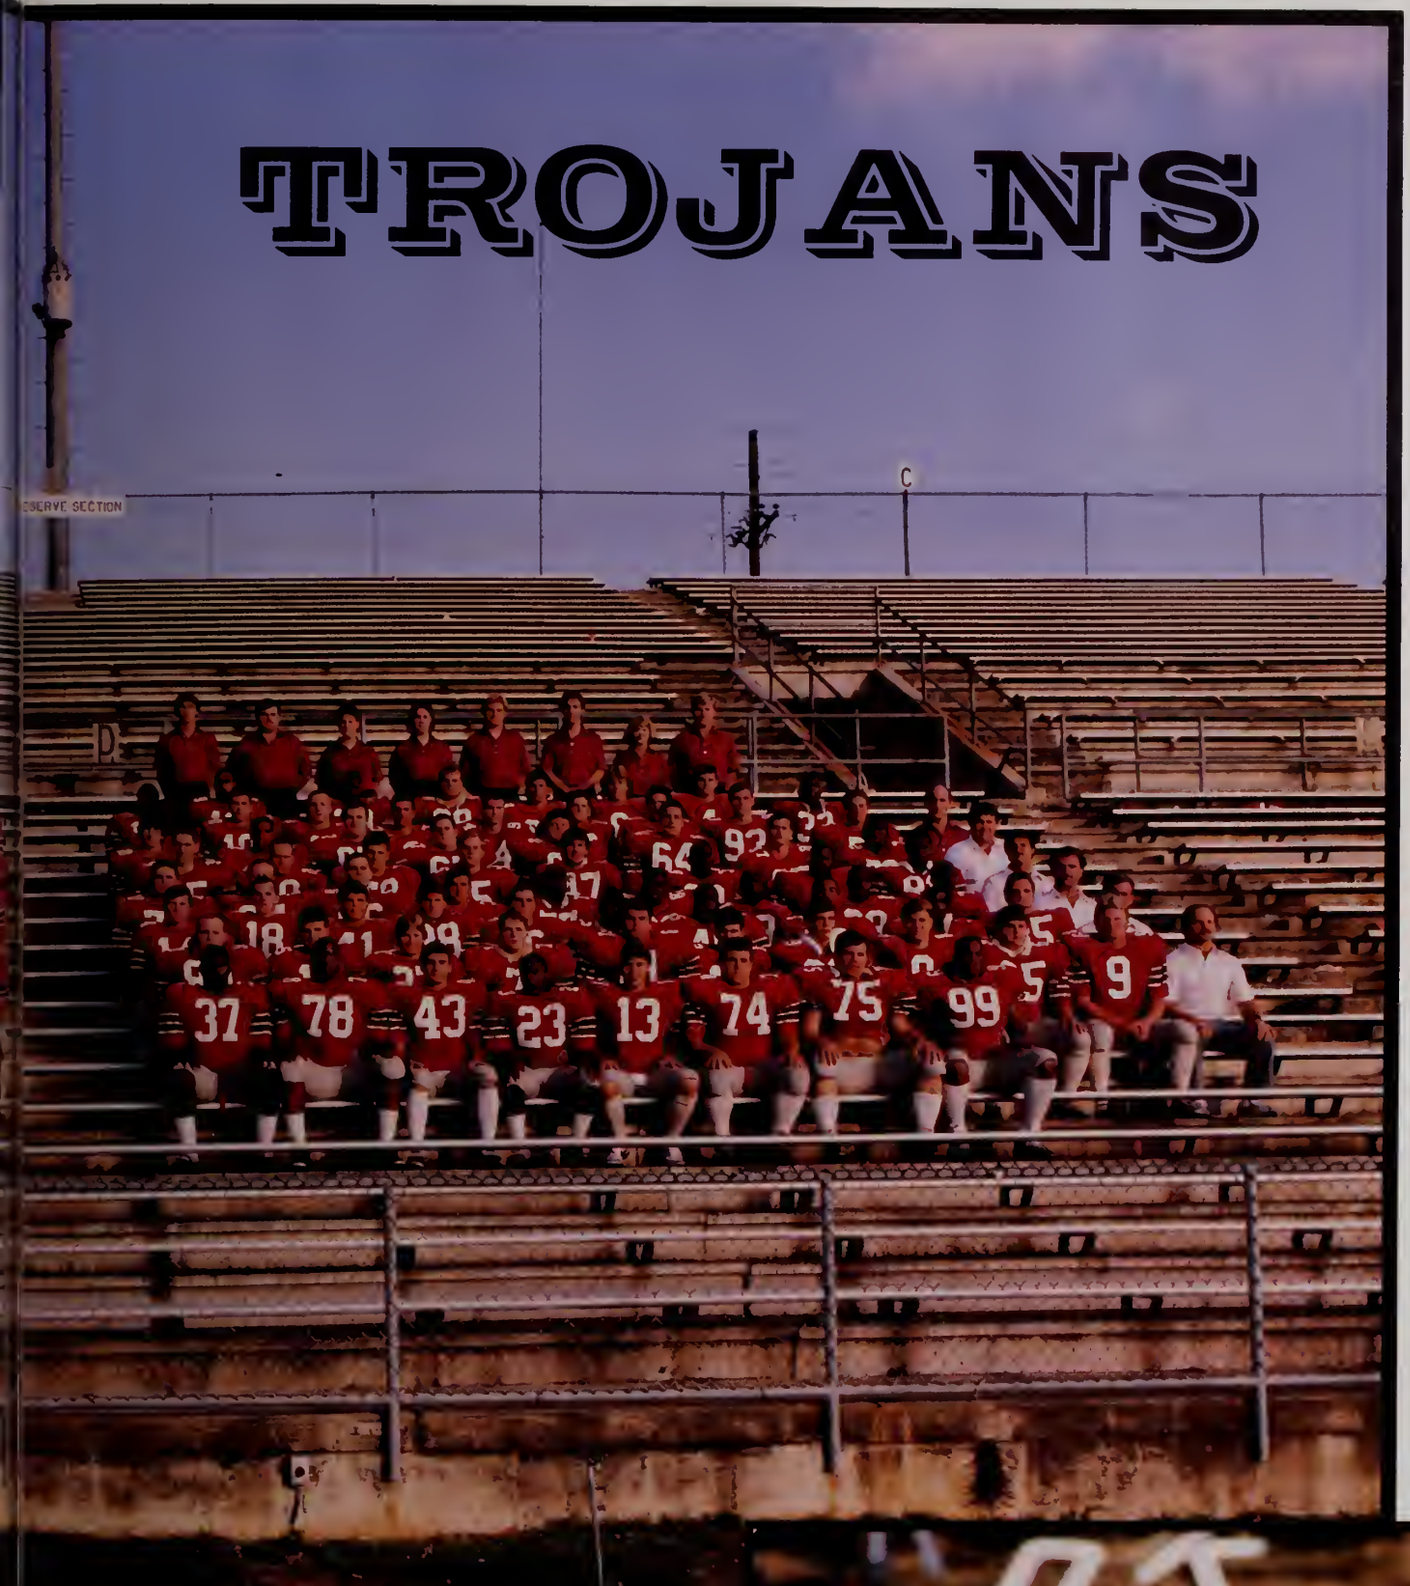
TROJANS



NICHOLLS — September 14. — Troy State began defending its 1984 NCAA Divison 2 football crown against 1-AA opponent Nicholls State. Suffering torn ligaments, quarterback Mike Turk sat out of the Trojan's first game.

Even though, the Trojans were able to pull out a total of 409 yards giving them three touchdowns and a field goal by Ted Clem. Standing in for Mike Turk was Danny O'Toole who was able to pass the ball for a total of 102 yards. Jimmie Haywood gave the team two touchdowns and showed his rushing abilities with a total of 153 yards.

Unfortunately victory went to Nicholls State with a score of 40 to 26. Spirit, although, was not lost and the Trojans were ready to take on Georgia Southern the 21st of September.

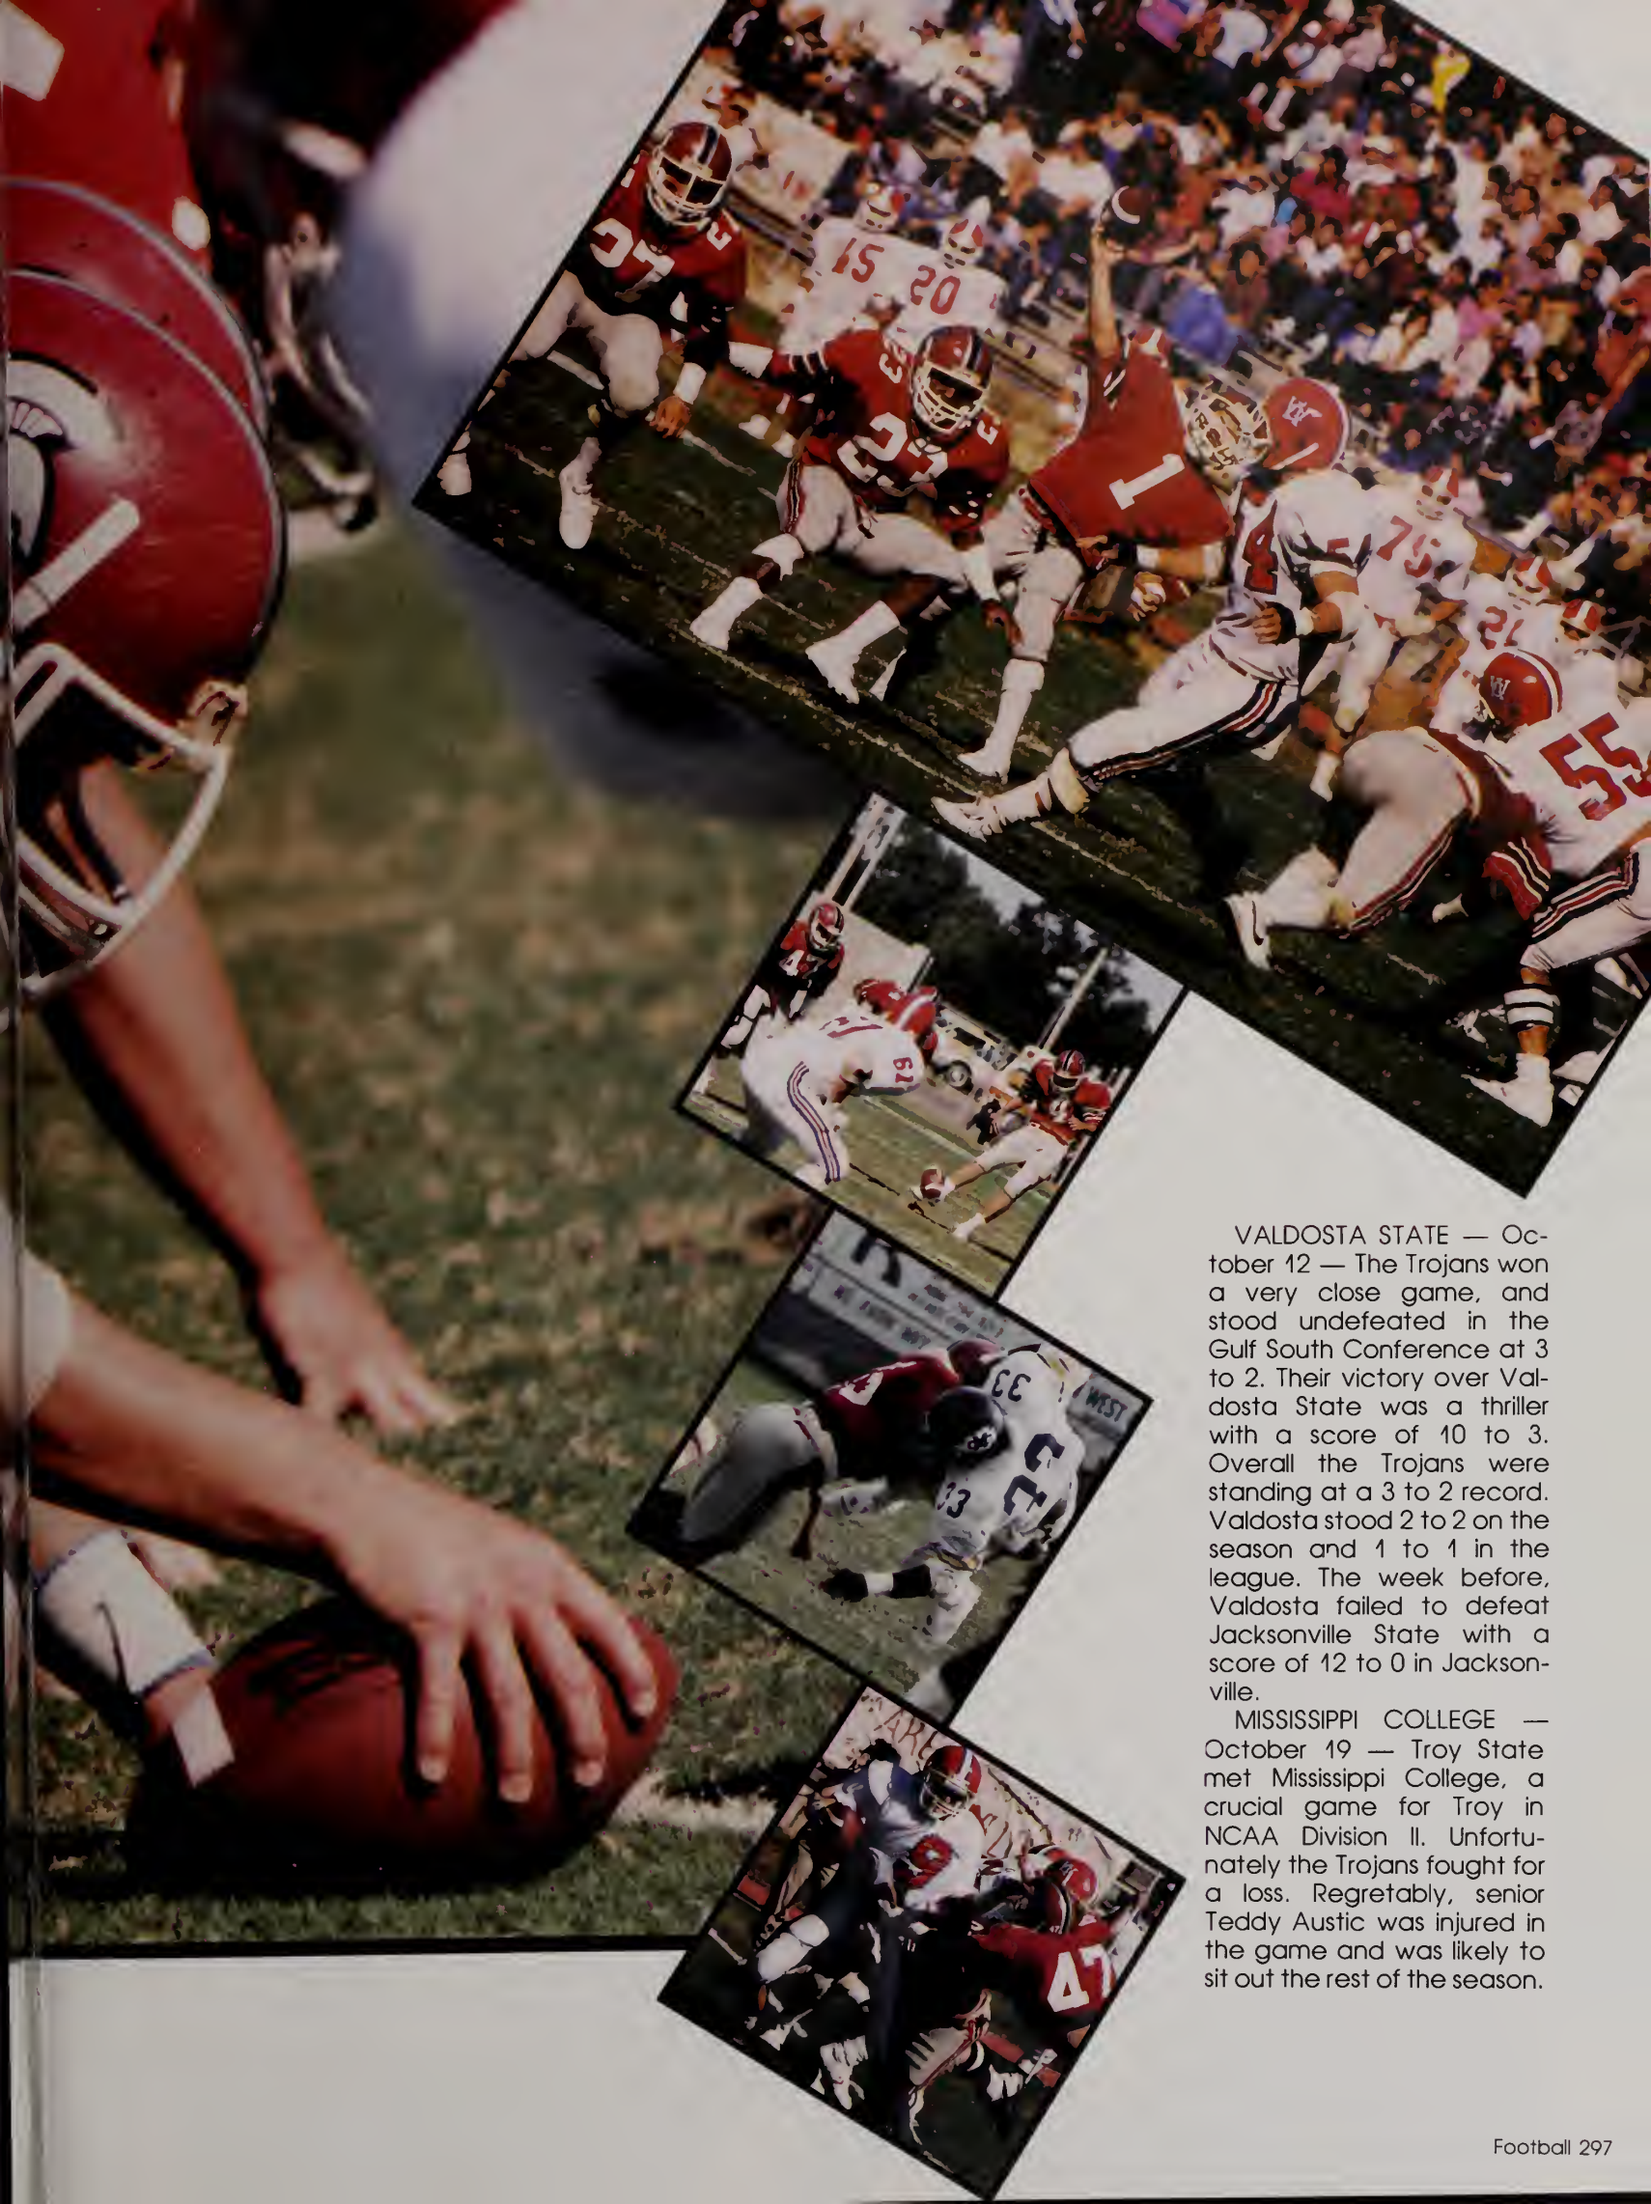
GEORGIA SOUTHERN — September 21 — The first home game against 1-AA Georgia Southern was unfortunately a second loss for the Trojans. The game ended with a score of 17 to 10. Turnovers seemed to be a big factor in the game. T.S.U. fumbled twice, lost one of them and was unfortunately intercepted twice. Most of the game the Trojans ran their wishbone into the middle of GSC's defense. This loss set a slow pace for next week's game in Livingston.

LIVINGSTON — September 28 — The Trojans won their first game by bombing Livingston with a score of 38 to 7, the game being both team's Gulf South Conference opener. The Trojan defense was spectacular. They sacked the Tiger quarterback nine times during the game and allowed the offensive rushing unit negative 24 net yards.

This gave T.S.U. a new record. The Trojan defensive backs tied another school record by intercepting five Livingston passes. In the second half of the game the Trojans scored 21 points finally totaling 324 yards rushing and 8 passing. Troy's next opponent was West Georgia who brought a 2 to 1 record to Troy's Memorial Stadium for T.S.U.'s Homecoming.

WEST GEORGIA — October 5 — The Trojans definately gave the fans an astonishing homecoming game.With a 42 to 0 victory over West Georgia, Troy stood at 2 to 2 on the season, and 2 to 0 in the Gulf South Conference. The Trojan wishbone was able to pull out 428 yards of total offense, 337 was rushing. The defense only allowed the Braves 80 yards passing and 52 rushing along with seven first downs. Having two great victories, the Trojans' spirits were great and they were ready to tackle next week's team.

TROJAN FOOTBALL



VALDOSTA STATE — October 12 — The Trojans won a very close game, and stood undefeated in the Gulf South Conference at 3 to 2. Their victory over Valdosta State was a thriller with a score of 10 to 3. Overall the Trojans were standing at a 3 to 2 record. Valdosta stood 2 to 2 on the season and 1 to 1 in the league. The week before, Valdosta failed to defeat Jacksonville State with a score of 12 to 0 in Jacksonville.

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE — October 19 — Troy State met Mississippi College, a crucial game for Troy in NCAA Division II. Unfortunately the Trojans fought for a loss. Regretably, senior Teddy Austic was injured in the game and was likely to sit out the rest of the season.

The Lady Trojans volleyball team faced a highly competitive schedule this season and faced many challenges. They finished with a record of 18 to 26. The season was highlighted by the team's first plane trip to Dayton, Ohio and hosting the G.S.C. conference tournament. This season was the last at Troy for seniors Brenda Sirmon, Lisa Pridgen and Leah Borie, all four year veterans.

THE SPIKE OF LIFE

Brenda Sirmon finished the season with a total of 506 kills and 1165 attempts to finish 306. Lisa also finished with an outstanding 688 assists for the Lady Trojan offense. Leah Borie finished a consistent and offensive server with a final service percent of .926 for the season. The team also exibited great potential from it's younger members with sophomores Trishe Lazzari, Suzie Hill and Linda Borie; being selected for the G.S.C. all tournament team as well as senior Brenda Sirmon. The Lady Trojans worked hard and gained experience that will profit them in following seasons.

A SEASON

BEYOND PREDICTION

For the first time since 1966, Troy State University produced four consecutive winning seasons in basketball.

Ending the 1985-86 campaign with a 14-12 mark and 8-8, fifth place finish in the Gulf South Conference, T.S.U. head coach Don Maestri was pleased with the performance of his Trojans this season and optomistic about the promising future.

"We were of course disappointed that we did not win a few more games, but we set a school record for attendance, again; we won 75-percent of our games played at home, and someday soon we're going to be nationally ranked and hopefully win the conference," said Maestri.

The Trojans came within a heartbeat of winning the conference title this season. T.S.U lost in triple-overtime to Valdosta State in Troy and a shot at the buzzer that rolled in-and-out at North Alabama was another heartbreaker. Those two wins alone would have dramatically swung the league standings to give the Trojans a tie for the GSC title. Another significant note of the Trojans was that they defeated four nationally ranked teams this season. Cumberland College, then ranked number one in the nation in NAIA with a record of 24-1, lost to the Trojans to suffer it's only defeat.

T.S.U. also defeated league champion Delta State, 1985 national champion, Jacksonville State, and West Georgia.

"With two or three little breaks we could have been co-champs of the league instead of fifth place," Maestri said. "But again this year we've established our direction in successful basketball at Troy State.

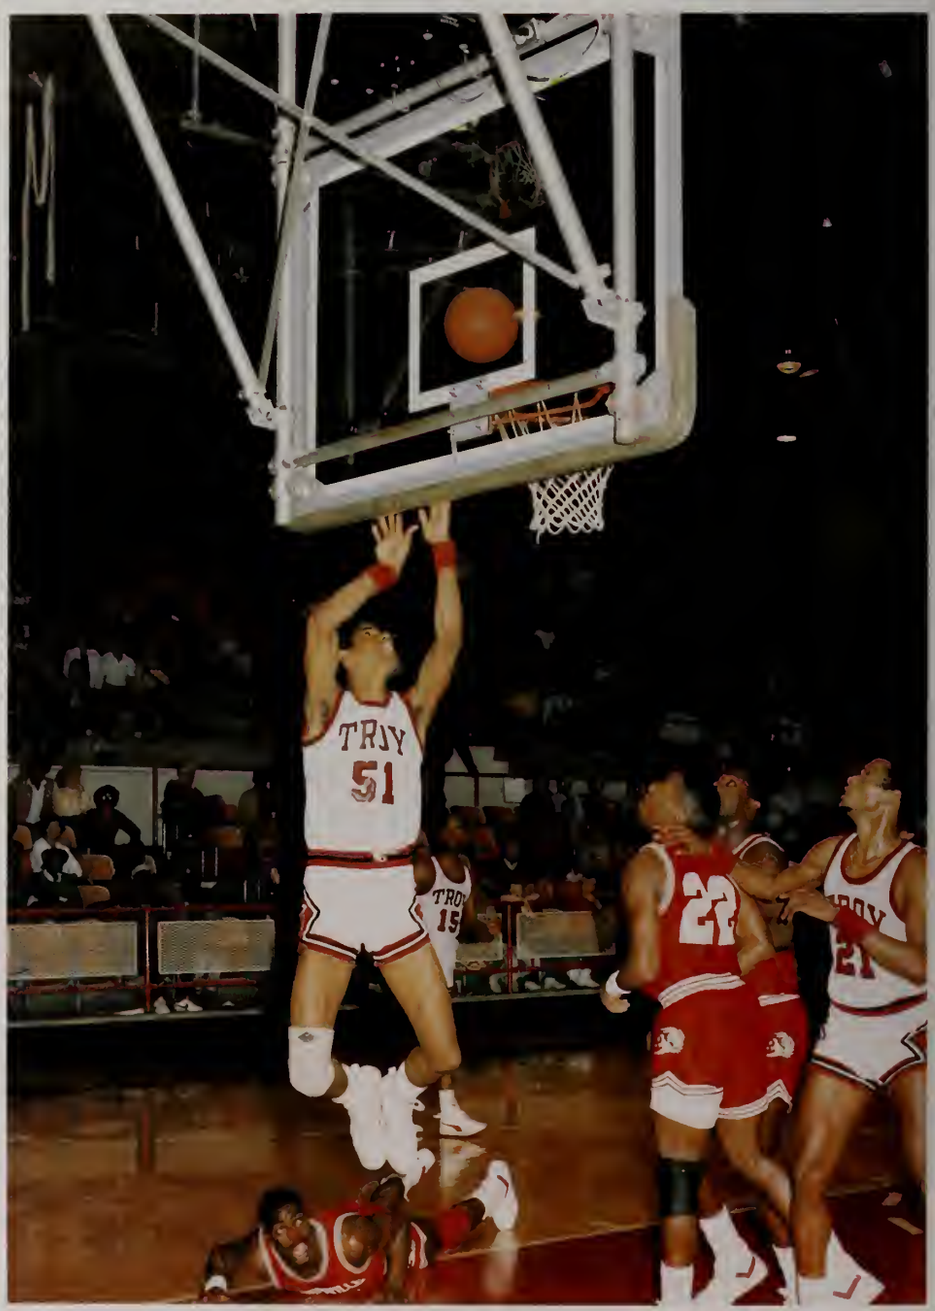
MEN'S BASKETBALL (con't.)

Speaking on the GSC games, Maesri said, "This is the strongest league in the nation, and we've shown we can beat any team in it. We've earned their respect. I believe this program has arrived in terms of becoming a contender."

"Our fans have also been tremendous. We set the attendance record last season and broke it again this year. People come to Troy State games and expect us to win, not hoping we'll win. That's a great feeling of accomplishment for this program. We know we can beat Jax State and North Alabama when they come here, and we have," said Maestri.

In February 1986, recruiting was upon Maestri and Associate Head Coach David Felix, as they looked to replace seniors Dennis Garrett, Marlon McGaughy and Tom Griffith.



"We're going to try to sign a couple of guards when signing day comes around April 9," Maestri said. "That's our number one priority. Now that we've got the committment from the big guy, we've got to put all our efforts into finding some young men that can help us. This is the hardest season, recruiting. With so many other schools in the state and league competing, it can determine how your program will be next year and the next."

"We do have a group of experienced players coming back and the future does look bright. We know we have to have a very good recruiting year to maintain our strength in the GSC. We want T.S.U. to be in the upper echelon. Eventually we hope to win the conference, and more important, we want to be nationally ranked. Our players returning realize how tough this league is and that should make them play harder," said Maestri.

Another interesting note is that the Trojans were voted to finish next-to-last this season in the GSC, but proved the voters wrong.

"Anytime you finish higher than you were picked, you've done more than expected," Maestri continued, "That's the sign of any good program. We're still not satisfied, but we've gained momentum and this has been a solid four years." (Article by Dan Smith)

A SEASON OF UPS AND DOWNS

Working together as a team and also individually, the Lady Trojans finished up their season at a 14-13 overall, and a 6-8 in the Gulf South Conference. The season is best summed up by head coach Joyce Sorrell, "It was definitely an up and down year." The season started out with the Lady Trojans winnning their first two games and battling it through to be positioned at a 5-7 record after Christmas break. The tables were turned with a loss to West Florida but then the winning streak reappeared. The Lady Trojans won nine out of the remaining twelve games. Included in the last twelve games was a thriller against nineth ranked Delta State which involved a 94-92 double overtime.

Individually, Senior Angela Moore was the Lady Trojans leader for three seasons including this past one. Angela ended her basketball career with 1,574 points and 1,000 rebounds.

Other outstanding performances were displayed by Freshman Tammy Bruce, averaging 15 points a game, and Sophomore Freda More. Freda had the second highest total of assists in a season with 139.

The Lady Trojans definitely hit some winning streaks along with the losses, but all-in-all the team displayed an overall win with their superior sportsmanship and spirit.

The TSU Baseball team amassed an incredible record of wins, leading to the Trojans number one ranking in NCAA Division II.

The team captured the Gulf South Conference title in Jacksonville by blasting the host team Gamecocks in the first game 27-8 and taking the nightcap 7-6. It was the first GSC title since 1982. By winning the conference championship, TSU upped its its record to 38-6 and received an automatic bid to the Division II South Central Regional Tournament.

Toward the end of the season, the Trojans began to develop remarkable bench strength. TSU erased a 10-6 defecit to finally beat Valdosta State in the GSC Tournament. Several players were called off the bench to play and responded very well to the call. Coach Riddle said, "Our bench has proven that they can come into a game and we haven't lost a lot."

TROJAN BASEBALL "CATCH THE EXCITEMENT"

In addition to a reliable bench, TSU also had a strong batting lineup develop during the season. As of May 9, the team had 65 homers on the year. Before that time, the Trojans had relied on speed on the basepaths, hitting and running, and stealing bases to score runs. But, eight year head coach Chase Riddle saw his team's sudden transformation from roadrunners to coyotes as part of a natural process, the sort of progress a good team will make in the course of a year. Just before the starting of the regional playoffs, Coach Riddle commented on his team's batting turn-around, "We're discovering that we have some people who can reach the fence, and it has added another dimension to our offense."

The Trojans went into the regional playoffs confident in their abilities. "I've said all along that this is one of the most well balanced ballclubs we've seen at Troy State in a number of years," said Coach Riddle. (cont. p.320)

DIV. II WORLD SERIES — In what was considered to be a rebuilding season, the Trojans won their first baseball national title in the NCAA Division II World Series, which was held in Montgomery.

The title was also the first national baseball crown for any Gulf South Conference team.

All-American Senior Mike Perez was the winning pitcher, firing a complete game, one-hit shutout over nine innings, striking out seven and walking three to improve his record to 13-1.

Perez hurled a no-hitter through five and a third complete innings before Columbus leadoff hitter doubled down the third base line. Perez did not allow another base runner.

In the bottom of the eighth inning, Perez pulled a groin muscle, but retired the last six batters he faced, striking out three.

The Trojans erupted for four runs in the fourth inning as Mike Elmore reached on an error. Tournament most valuable player Wendell Stephens singled and Glenn Willis followed with a double into the right field corner to drive in two runs.

Jude Rinaldi then walked and advanced to second on a sacrifice fly by Mark Smartt. With two outs left, Jose Torres doubled to give TSU the 4-0 lead.

TSU picked up a run in the sixth as Smartt singled and Torres doubled. Todd Englett was hit by a pitch and Smartt scored on a passed ball. Players named to the all tournament team were pitchers Perez, Ron Warren, and Jody Ryan. Stephens was named third baseman, Kindred in left field and Arrington in center. (copy by Dan Smith)

TSU TRACK — AHEAD OF THE REST

Almost half of the 1985 Gulf South Conference championship Trojan squad graduated, thus leaving sixth-year head track coach Charles Oliver with a very young, but talented team. With the help of assistant coaches Glen Banker and Stanley Garrett, Oliver managed his sixth straight GSC victory this year, raising the string to seven consecutive wins for T.S.U. What this year's team lacked in experience, they made up for in ability.

Leading the sprinting events were Rodney Rowser, Gary Henderson, Edmundo Moxie, and Tim Martin. All four qualified for nationals, which were held in Los Angeles, California. Martin qualified in the 200 meter, Moxie in the 100 meter, and all of them made-up a champion 4x100 meter relay team.

In the 400 meter event, Eric McPhee had proved to be an outstanding competitor and dominated this year's GSC championship.

The hurdle events were handled by coach Glen Banker's Gulf South Conference cross-country championship team which included Chris Palmer, Mike Turdo, and national qualifier Ken Banks. Also Jeff Harwell, Nick Wolf, Bill Hubbard, and Mike Ledbetter collected valuable points for the Trojans. Freshman Steve Brown, from Georgia, was the GSC champion in the pole vault this year. While Edmundo Moxie dominated the long jump by qualifying for the nationals with a jump of 25'4", Dave Cauthen and James Sanders shared the duty of high jumping. Cauthen, this year's GSC champ, qualified for nationals by jumping 6'11". Gene Williams, a two-time national qualifier, once again performed well in the triple jump by surpassing the 51" mark.

The discus throw was best performed by Andy Carter, a freshman from Florida. His conference throw of 157'8" missed winning by a mere 2". In the shot putt, Woodrow Henson proved very competitive, while throwing a personal best of 51'1". Wayne Ostrowsky, red-shirted due to injury, helped in coaching the throwing events and will be a valuable part of next year team.

There were many other members of the 1986 Trojan track squad, and each one played an important role in helping the team achieve the 1986 GSC crown. (Article written by Andy Carter)

OFF AND RUNNING

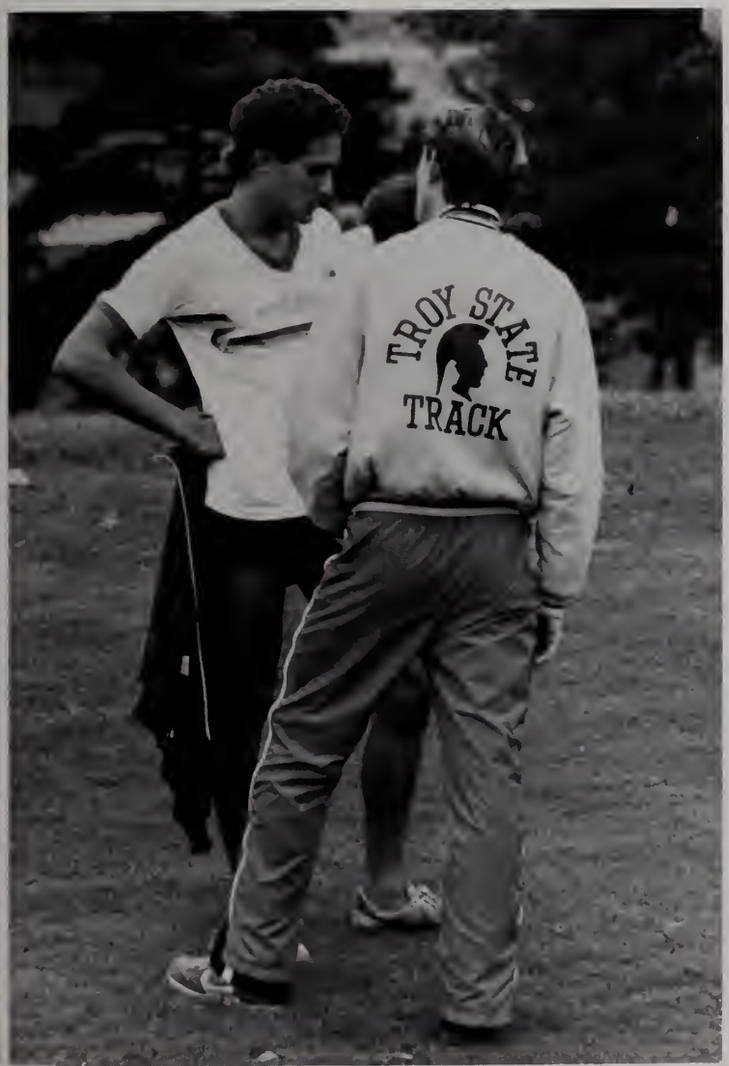
Troy's Cross Country Team was the youngest team to qualify for the national meet. Unbelievably, they finished twelth in the nation in NCAA's Division II National Meet. The men's teams consisted of four freshmen, one sophomore, and two juniors, while the girl's had one senior, two freshmen, and four sophomores. Although the team was young, the coach felt like this could be the start of bigger things for the team.

As statistics stood, the men had won the Gulf South Conference eleven years in a row, while the girls were defending four year strings in both classifications.

Both the team and coach believed they were going to have another regular season ,but the season turned out to be one of the best ever.



Bottom opposite page: Andy Carter helps cross country runner Chris Palmer. Top: With all intentions of winning, the TSU cross country team is off and running. Bottom left: Mike Turdo listens attentively to the advice he is given. Bottom right: Moving into the lead is Trojan Mike Ledbetter.

FAST PITCH SOFTBALL — A new activity made its way into T.S.U. sports world. With fast moves and strategic plays, the Lady Trojans, coached by Ginger Sprague with the assistance of Randy Watson, had a season record of thirteen wins and thirteen losses.

Having entered the Gulf South Conference tournament with an undefeated record in district play of 5-0, the Lady Trojans earned the top seating in the entire conference.

Special recognition is deserving for three players who were named to the All-Conference Team: outfielders Suellen Shaw, Eraena McKenzie and infielder Dorine Haskell.

As most members of this years team are planning to return, greater expectations are in store for 1987. (Article written by Becky Bobo)

RACKIN' EM UP

The tennis team enjoyed its best season ever with a 14-5 overall record and a fourth place finish in the GSC, just two points behind Jacksonville State.

The Trojans were a relatively young squad with three freshmen and a sophomore in the starting line-up. The only two returning players to the team were team captain David Good, a junior, and Dicky Nachman, a senior.

Freshman Nick Kontos led the Trojans with a 32-9 dual record and a second place finish in the Conference at number three in singles. Good finished closely behind with a 31-9 record and a third place finish, playing number five for the year.

The rest on the line-up included freshman Jeff Ballentine and Jeff Martin along with Nachman.

Coach Dennis Rogers said he was pleased with the team's progress over the year and was very optimistic about the team's chances of winning the Conference in 1987.

TEEING OFF A GREAT SEASON

The 1985-86 Men's Golf Team consisted of four freshmen, a pair of junior college tranfers, and four returnees, once again making the Trojans strong contenders for the national title.

Coach Mobley feels this team was much stronger than last year's, despite more youth on the team. "Last year we had no depth, but our top seven or eight are much better than last season's," said Mobley.

Seniors Andy Vaughn and Jeff Butler were the keys. According to Mobley "they make the team click. If they are playing well, then the other guys should play well also, and the inexperienced players will not feel the burden is on them to carry the load."

As always, the schedule was tough. It included the Panhandle Intercollegiate hosted at Eglin AFB by Troy State, the Southern Jr. Sr. at Stillwater, the Southeastern Collegiate Division II tournament, and the Jerry Pate tournament at Tigerpoint.

Again, as always, the members of the Men's Golf Team are all winners.

The TSU men's golf team won its 7th consecutive Gulf South ConferenceChampionship at Paris Landing State Park in Buchanon, Tenn, taking command from day one.

Troy had three players finish in the top four. Andy Vaugh finished second in the tournament with a 70-73-78:221. Jeff Butler shot a 71-78-73:222, enroute to a third place finish. Mike Wright took fourth with a 72-72-80:224.

Seniors Vaughn and Butler, and freshman Mike Wright made the 1986 All-GSC team. TSU's Robbie Cotten missed making the ALL-GSC team by one stroke. Cotten shot 74-76-77:227, and finished ninth. David Parenti shot 82-79-80:241.

"One thing about this tournament, it wasn't our finish that won it," said two-time GSC Coach of the Year Ron Mobley. "We went out and won this tournament on the first day." (con't. next page)

TEEING OFF A GREAT SEASON

Troy led the tournament after day one by shooting an overall score of 313. However, on the second day TSU fell to third place when they shot a 325. Rollins College held the lead and Florida Atlantic was in second.

On the last day of the tournament Troy, turned in a miraculous 309 to take the Championship by one stroke from Florida Atlantic. Before going into the last round Tracey Tolomeo said, "I knew we were 10 strokes behind. I felt like we could win if we put up some decent scores."

Speaking of the win Coach Force said, "It's hard to describe because we really haven't come down off the clouds. It was a great win, and the way they did it made it even better. Coming from that far behind and showing the kind of class to be able to win a championship just doesn't say enough about that group of girls. As a coach, this is without a doubt the best group of girls I've ever been around."

Force has been coaching the Women's Golf Team at TSU for the past five years. To his credit as a coach he has had two of his teams in the past three years win the National Championship. In his second year, and the year in between championships, the team came in second in the National Championship Tournament. The first year he took over the team took second place in

Team captain Glenda Laster graduated in the spring of '86. "I am glad it's over," said Laster of her collegiate golf career. However, when asked if she would do it again, without hesitation she said, "In a heartbeat."

RAISING SPIRITS HIGHER

Along with the glory of cheerleading are the days of hard work and long practices. From tryouts in the spring to the end of every season, the cheerleaders have to work their hardest to obtain a good team to display the most spirit possible. Each day of practice is given to a particular area such as stunts, pyramids, motions, cheers and chants. This year, they spent a lot of their time perfecting aerobic skills and involving more of them. During football season, they cheered at both home and away games, while during basketball season, they only performed at home games.

This year is the first year the cheerleaders started cheering for the women's basketball games. The cheerleaders attend camp every year before their season begins.

The 1985-86 Cheerleaders are: Kelly Gilmore, Tammy Claunch, Jimmy McClelland, Erin Kelly, Neal Anderson, Kim Newton, Andy Martin, T-Roy, Jennifer Clyatt, Bill Quercia, Iris Greene, Bill Gauspohl, Sharon Reed. Captains: Neal Anderson and Jennifer Clyatt.

While at camp this past year, they were awarded several first and second place awards, and overall they came out in fourth place out of conference in Small College Division 2 awards given.

During camp, Troy's cheerleaders were recommended by Georgia and Florida. This recommendation allowed our cheerleaders here at Troy to cheer for the Atlanta Falcons — San Francisco 49ers game.

The cheerleaders were supplied with uniforms, two complimentary tickets to the game, free transportation one way and one free meal. They also served as entertainment for the Peanut Festival held in Dothan.

The cheerleaders were looking forward to a hard-working and exciting new squad next year. Tryouts are difficult, but the experience and fun one will receive is most rewarding.

College of Arts and Sciences

DR. John
Long
Dean

Academic tradition gives the College of Arts and Sciences its central, integral role in the University structure. It has primary responsibility for the dissemination of general knowledge and broader learning, and for the cultivation and refinement of those basic skills that mark the educated person. Its courses and programs foster independent thinking, analytical and critical judgment, and a deepening appreciation of the achievements of mankind. Finally, it seeks to encourage a spirit of understanding and tolerance toward the student's greater and more informed participation in a free society.

The College of Arts and Sciences has eight departments: Aerospace, Biology, Criminal Justice, English, Foreign Languages, History and Social Sciences, Mathematics, and Physical Science.

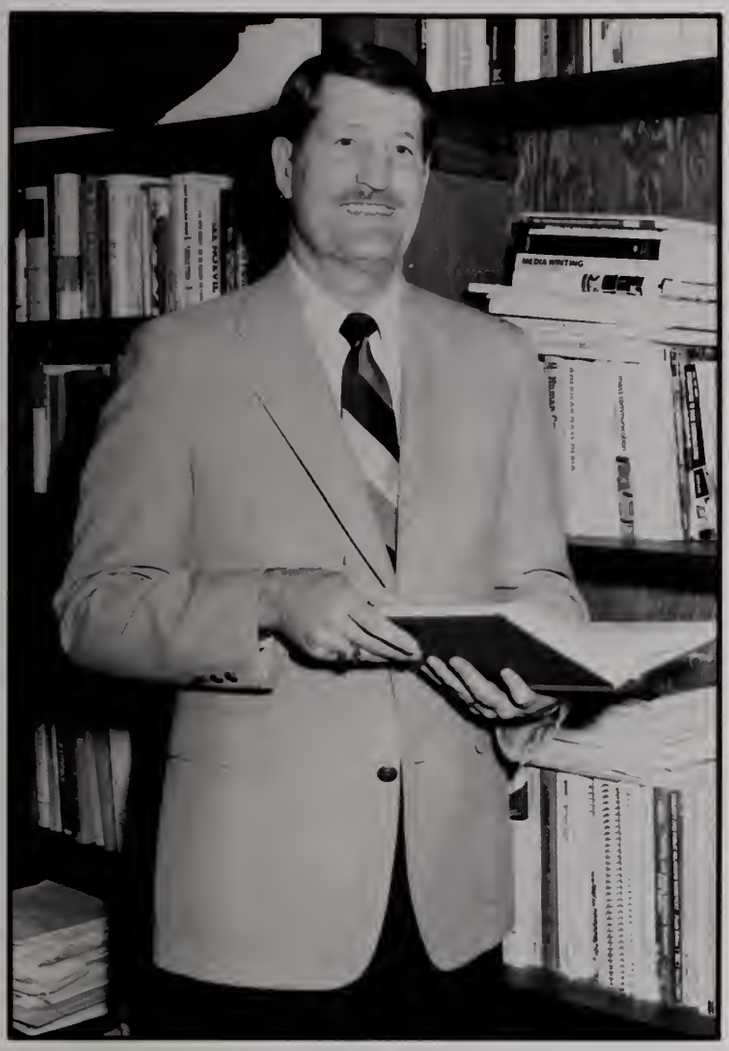
Hall School of Journalism



Mr. Merrill Bankester, Dean

The School of Journalism is the youngest on the TSU main campus with a beginning in 1972. The School offers two areas of concentration, news-editorial and broadcast. Broadcasting courses were offered for the first time in 1975 and now students produce their own nightly news show as well as other shows at a fully equipped campus television station.

Students in the journalism program have the opportunity to train at the campus television station as well as the on-campus newspaper which is a weekly newspaper, and the school's yearbook.

A vital part of the journalism major is an internship program which is required of all students. The students must spend one quarter durning his or her senior year at a newspaper or a radio station, or public relations office.

As an additional aid to the student's education, the school sponsors a symposium each spring whereby outstanding and nationally recognized journalists come to the campus to participate in seminars. Also, an endowed Chair of Journalism was established in 1980, thus giving the students another means of contact with those in the professsion.

In order to involve students more with the field of journalism, a chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, was established in 1975, and a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the National Broadcasting Society, was charted in 1982.

Sorrell College of Business

Dr. Wayne C. Curtis
Dean

In June 1981, the Sorrell School of Business and Commerce came into being. Prior to this date it was known as the School of Business and Commerce and even earlier known as the Department of Business. The Sorrell School of Business and Commerce was named in honor of the late Jeff Sorrell, a prominent local businessman who bequeathed the University, particularly the School of Business and Commerce, a substantial sum upon his death.

The basic objective of the Sorrell School is to provide the best possible education for students. Programs are designed to develop leadership for the business community; they teach skills and attitudes of mind that enable individuals to cope successfully with problems of the business community in a rapid changing economy.

Personal attention is emphasized; each student has an academic adviser from the School of business.

The faculty of the Sorrell School is highly qualified and dedicated to the purpose of providing a quality education to enable the students to become more productive and better citizens. The faculty background is one of diversified academic and business experience. The Sorrell School is divided into four departments: Department of Accounting, Finance and Business Law; Department of Computer Science and Quantitative Methods; Department of Marketing, Management & Economics; and The Department of Office Administration and Business Education.

School of Fine Arts

Dr. John Long
Dean

The Troy State University School of Fine Arts provides opportunities for students to find emotional, intellectual, and aesthetic satisfaction as they prepare themselves to realize their life's objectives. Under the deanship of Dr. John M. Long, the School of Fine Arts was established in 1971 with the disciplines of music, visual arts, and speech communication and drama. With a dual focus on theory and performance, each discipline provides laboratory experiences for examination and refinement of performance skills for the student with professional or avocational interests.

The School provides an opportunity for the entire student body to experience the richness of our cultural heritage through concerts performed by members of the "Sound of the South" Band; operas, operettas and musical comedy performed by Opera Workshop participants; concerts by the Collegiate Singers and Madrigals; visual arts exhibits sponsored by the Department of Arts and Classics; a broad range of dramatic literature brought to life on the stage by the University Playmakers and the Pied Pipers; and intercollegiate competition with the TSU Trojan Debate Squad.

Graduate School

Dr. Rudi Argenti, Dean

The first post degree earned at Troy State University was conferred in 1958. Since that time, graduate work at Troy State has been characterized by steady growth and development in degree programs in accordance with the changing mission and role of the University. In 1958, the primary objective of the graduate program was to prepare students in teacher education. In the 1970's the need for knowledge and advanced education in specialized and professional fields soon required the University to add several new degree programs in the Arts and Sciences, Business and Commerce, Counseling and Human Development, and Education professional degrees at the Master's level were also added.

In 1972, Educational Specialist Degrees were added in Counseling and Human Development and in Administration and supervision. In 1981, Educational Specialist Degrees were added in Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education. A cooperative program leading to the Doctor of Education Degree with the School of Education, Auburn University was approved in 1982.

The Graduate School offers fourteen master's degrees and five educational specialist degrees to reflect the growing complexity and needs of a diverse student body. The Graduate School is the administrative unit dealing with all aspects of graduate study. Its primary responsibilities are the maintenance and enhancement of quality in graduate programs.

College of Special Programs

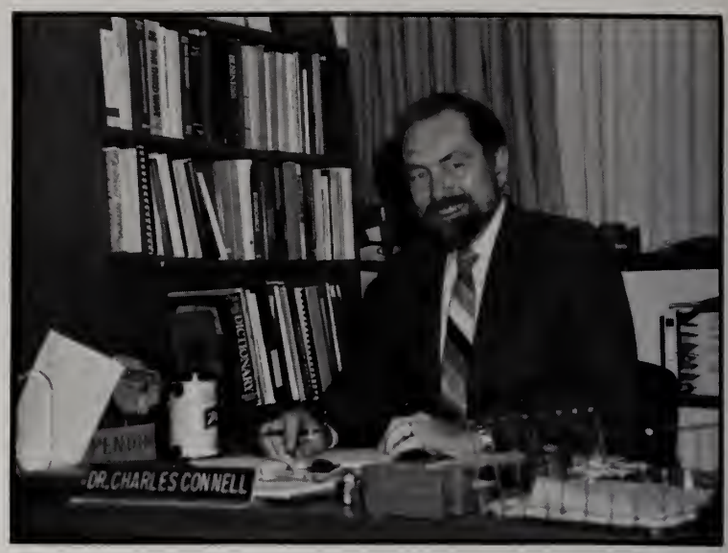
Dr. James Young Dean

The College of Special Programs was organized August 1, 1981. It is comprised of four directorates: Applied Sciences, Continuing Education, Cross Disciplinary Courses, and Educational Services. The largest task of the College is the adminstration of the Off-Campus Branches of the TSU System at Phenix City, Ft. Benning, and Moody Air Force Base, Georgia, and the Florida Region Incorporated and the thirty US military locations in Europe.

In the Fall of 1984 there were approximately 5,000 students enrolled in the College of Special Programs. These students are usually older than Main Campus students and most have full time occupations outside of school. Their classes are usually held at night and other off-duty hours. The most common academic programs are business administration, management, applied science, international relations, personnel management, criminal justice, counseling and human development.

Mrs. Barbara R. David, Director

Troy State University in Europe



Dr. Charles Connell
Director, Academic Affairs

In 1974 the Board of Trustees of the University authorized the Graduate Council to establish the European Region of the Troy State University System. Graduate degree programs were established at United States Air Force Bases in Germany, Italy, Turkey, and the United Kingdom.

Troy State University European Region operates on the semester system. Most bases conduct four ten-week terms per academic year. A few bases use five eight week terms. Classes are usally scheduled Monday thru Thursday evenings with classes meeting either once or twice each week. A few daytime and Saturday classes are also scheduled.

Flordia Region, Inc.

Troy State University System, Flordia Region, Inc., is dedicated toward meeting the educational needs of military and civilian personnel in Northwest Flordia. It had its beginnings in 1973 at Hurlburt Feild and later included Eglin Air Force Base, both of which are near Ft. Walton Beach, Flordia. Since then it has expanded its areas of operation to encompass NAS Pensacola, Corry Station and NAS Whiting Feild in the Pensacola, Flordia area.

The Flordia Region offers baccalaureate degrees in Applied Sciences, Business Administration, Computer Sciences, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and Social Sciences.

Master of Sciences degrees are offered in Counseling and Human Development, International Relations, Management, and Public Relations.

The curriculum and format of course scheduling provide for flexible adaptability to the military and civilian working student's duty or work requirements without compromising academic quality.

Student Publications Board

The University Student Publications Board (USPB) serves as a policy setting Board whose chief responsibility is to exercise supervision over the Tropolitan, Palladium, and any other University publication the President of the University places under the Board's jurisdiction.

The USPB promotes the highest standards of journalism in the operation of student publications under its jurisdiction. The Board also ensures that those publications are responsible to the concerns and needs of the University community. Also, the Board assures that these publications operate in the spirit of fairness, decency, truthfulness, and accuracy including the correction of errors in factual reporting previously disseminated.

The USPB assures the publication's freedom from censorship and the editor of those publications the right to develop their own editorial policies and news coverage. The USPB serves as a management board. The Board selects, employs, and terminates the editors and business managers of the Tropolitan, Palladium and any other University publication placed under its jurisdiction. Similarly, the Board supports those editors and managers against arbitrary suspension and removal because of student, faculty, administrative or public disapproval of editorial policy or content.

The Palladium was honored to receive an award for best cover design for the 1984 yearbook. The award was given by the Printing Industry of the Carolinas. The editor of the 1984 Palladium, Jeff Johnston from Ariton designed the award winning cover.

The Palladium competed with some 6,000 entries for the award, with judges from throughout the United States. Delmar printing was the publisher of the 1984 yearbook.

The Palladium Staff

Hard work, dedication, and nerves of steel are qualities demanded of every member of the Palladium staff. Being a part of an award winning yearbook gave the 1985-86 staff a real challenge to live up to. But, the Palladium's creative minds continuously came up with wonderful, innovative ideas (If not, we faked it.)

The 1986 Palladium was a group effort to create an image of the University which any student, faculty or staff member could appreciate. The Palladium not only is the product of hours and hours of work, but also represents the determination of a staff willing to overcome the most hideous obstacles — like deadlines.

The Palladium staff hopes you enjoy the 1986 yearbook depicting the "Troy State of Mind."

Suellen Snoekstra, associate editor

Leslie Carroll, associate editor

Holly Rousseau, business manager

Jacqueline Smith, adviser

Staff:

Row One: Garry Cannon, Cara English, Leigh Golden, Margaret Rhodes, Ginger Hakman, and Wayne Godwin. Row Two: Jacqueline Smith, Holly Rousseau, Suellen Snoekstra, Charlie Finch, Leslie Carroll, Dana Thierfelder, and Lori Featheringill.

What a year! Deadlines have become something that I dread more than most people could possibly imagine. So many times I, as well as the rest of the staff, had to say, "I can't go out tonight, I have a (long sigh) — deadline." There were times when we just didn't think we could put it all together. But, with all the talent we had working on the staff, something had to click — and it did, regardless of deadlines.

I'd like to thank veteran staff members Suellen, Leslie and Holly for all the dedication they have shown the yearbook and all the support they have given me. I've enjoyed not only working with them on the staff, but also the many memorable experiences we all had becoming good friends, like "heavy metal" parties and Jacqueline's halepeno corn-bread, both of which bring tears to my eyes.

It's been said behind every good man their stands a good woman (or vice versa.). Well, in the yearbook profession, the saying goes, "There's a good adviser behind every editor to make sure he's a good editor." Jacqueline Smith, besides being a constant cheerleader to the staff, has also been an outstanding adviser. She kept us all in line while giving us the extra confidence we needed at times, thanks Jacqueline!

To the rest of the staff — Ginger, Lori, Leigh, Dana, Margaret, Wayne, Garry, Scott, and Cara — thanks for all the time and hard work you put into the yearbook.

Being editor of the Palladium has been a real challenge, one which has made me a better man for surviving it. One thing I firmly believe is that a winner never quits, and quiter never wins.

I hope that you enjoy the 1986 Palladium as much as I have enjoyed being its editor-in-chief.

Sincerely,

Charles H. Finch
